'WE NEED CITY INCOME TAX'---CRITES Ervin Leist's Pay Raised To $7,200

City's Utilities Head Had Offer Paying $10,000

Lawmakers' Action Seen Necessary For Community

At the request of the board of public utilities, city council Tuesday night hurried through an ordinance which raised the salary of Public Utilities Manager Ervin Leist by $1,920 a year.

Action was taken after the board disclosed Leist had been offered a job in the Youngstown area for an estimated $10,000 a year. Leist, however, agreed to stay at his job here for $7,200, and his salary was raised accordingly.

Leist's annual salary previously was $5,280.

Several members of the council, and those of the utilities board, described the salary increase as "the only thing we can do." At the same time, some of the lawmakers privately admitted they did not criticize Leist's position in the matter.

LEIST, in the past, has turned down offers from other cities, but he felt an increase in pay here was essential to balance the attractions of the most recent proposition. He has made it clear he wants, "if at all possible and reasonable," to stay in Circleville.

Leist's latest offer came from the Ohio Water Service Co. at Youngstown. His offices, had he accepted the opportunity, would have been in Youngstown, a suburb. He pointed out it would have been a job concerned only with water department details, whereas in Circleville he heads both the water and sewage departments.

Council, in weighing the big increase, had to face the fact that no other experienced water and sewage manager would have been immediately available here if Leist's pay hike had been refused. One of the lawmakers gloomily observed:

"If we had to go find somebody else in a hurry, we would have to try to steal him from some other community—just like they're trying to steal Leist from Circleville. And it takes a lot of money to coax away men like that."

Making the problem more difficult was the fact that Leist had to have council's decision by Wednesday morning. The Youngstown firm insisted on that deadline for an answer.

In presenting the pay-raise ordinance, the board of public utilities emphasized it was a measure sponsored by the board. Leist did not ask council for the increase.

DELIBERATIONS on the matter Tuesday night began with a closed huddle by members of (Continued on Page Two)

Lightning Blamed For Columbus Blast

COLUMBUS (AP)—Authorities theorized today lightning may have caused the explosion which damaged a South Side house, blowing out windows in a 200-foot radius.

Police said lightning may have struck a tree and run along a wire clothes line to the porch. A search of the area offered no evidence of dynamite or other explosives.

No one was injured in the blast, but the sound was heard over a wide area. It was believed a thunderclap may have accompanied the lightning. All 15 windows in the brick building were smashed and the porch knocked from its foundation.

High Court Hears Loganite's Appeal

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today heard oral arguments and took under study the appeal of Benjamin E. Meyer, 25, of Logan, under sentence of death for the fatal shooting of his wife Velvia during a quarrel last year.

Meyer's execution had been scheduled for last Oct. 21, but was postponed to permit his appeal.

Meyer was convicted of first-degree murder without a recommendation for mercy. He was admitted to Ohio Penitentiary July 7.

District Churches Arrange Services

Churches in Circleville and elsewhere in Pickaway County listed more of their special services today for Holy Week. Among the latest received were the following:

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH
The major Holy Week celebrations for St. Joseph's Church will begin Thursday, when a special Mass commemorating the institution of the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9 a. m.

The very Rev. Msgr. George Mason will replace his violet vestments of the Lenten season with white robes for the celebration of the Mass. A 53-voice choir of St. Joseph's school children will sing the Missa Brevis, with the Christus Vincit at the Offertory.

At the singing of the Gloria during the Mass, the bells will ring continuously and the organ will be played. Thereafter the organ will be silent until Easter and the bells will be replaced with a somber wooden clapper.

Following the Mass, the Blessed Sacrament will be carried in procession throughout the church as the children chant the Pange Lingua. The procession will end at the side altar, where the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed in the Repository for adoration. This altar will be decorated with flowers and candles, while the decorations will be removed from the main altar.

Women and children of the parish have been assigned hours for adoration during the day on Thursday and on Friday morning. The men will assume the Thursday evening and night hours of adoration.

A Holy Hour will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in honor of the Holy Eucharist.

CALVARY EUB
The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed on Maundy Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church. The Sacrament will be administered at the altar of the church following a brief service of worship and a Communion meditation.

The Rev. James B. Recob, pastor of Calvary Church, will conduct the worship service and administer the Sacrament at the altar.

All members of Calvary Church have been urged to attend this service and to receive the Sacrament.

GOOD FRIDAY UNION SERVICE
The Community "Good Friday" service will be held at the First Methodist Church from 1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Orville S. Gibbs, minister of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, will be the speaker, using as his sermon subject, "The Last Words of Christ from the Cross."

The Rev. Charles D. Reed, minister of the host church, will preside in conducting the service.

Special music will be provided by a mixed-quartet composed of Mrs. Larry Graham, soprano; Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, alto; Charles Magill, tenor; and Charles Kirkpatrick, bass.

They will sing two selections. Their first number (taken from the Cantata "Olivet to Calvary") will be "Gethsemane" by Maunder, and the second number will be, "God so Loved the World," taken from the same Cantata.

Mrs. Ervin Leist will be at the organ. This will be a community service and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Grand Jury Raps Zanesville Chiefs

ZANESVILLE (AP)—A Muskingum County grand jury has recommended that Mayor Sherman A. Johnson and former Service Director Marian Withers be compelled to reimburse the city for work allegedly done on their behalf by municipal employees.

The grand jury also advised City Council President Arthur Boach to pay for cold mix and the cost of laying it in the rear of his residence.

No indictments were returned in the investigation. But the jury sent a copy of its findings to the Ohio Legislature with the recommendation that a law be passed "making it a crime for a public servant to use the service of those employees under him for the public servant's own use."

U. S. Leaders Eye Policies Of Eden

WASHINGTON (AP)—An overriding concern to preserve Western solidarity against Russia is likely to dominate the policies of Britain's new Eden government just as it did that of Sir Winston Churchill.

But U. S. officials said privately today Sir Anthony Eden will not do things in the same way Churchill did, and there is no use pretending there will not be some differences in British relations.

What these differences are going to be, how they will develop and how they must be handled to prevent unnecessary frictions will be major sources of interest in U. S. conduct of foreign affairs during the next few months.

Authorities here think it quite possible that Eden will seek early talks with top American officials. He might find such an occasion when Secretary of State Dulles goes to Europe for a North Atlantic Treaty meeting in May. He could come here to confer with

Eisenhower Lauds Eden As Statesman

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today praised Sir Anthony Eden as a statesman of world stature and a "great successor" to Sir Winston Churchill.

In a prepared statement the President said that "In war and in peace, Sir Anthony has been an outstanding spokesman of the free world. I know that he will continue unceasingly to serve the cause of world peace and freedom."

President Eisenhower, though officials said there is no present plan for such a meeting.

EDEN AND Churchill have been closely identified for so many years that there is a tendency to consider them identical in motives and reactions. That is not true, according to men who have worked with both of them.

As prime minister and foreign minister, Churchill and Eden were accustomed to disagree on many issues. Sometimes U. S. diplomats have to check and recheck both men to learn what was the true British position on some issue.

In general Churchill, the old political granger, has taken a much tougher line on many problems than Eden, the practiced diplomat, was willing to do.

One well-known difference was Churchill's desire for a long time for a big power meeting at what he called "the summit"—involving heads of state. Eisenhower was cool to the notion. So were Dulles and Eden.

On the specific question of relations with the United States, diplomats believe Eden will be just as devoted as Churchill was to preserving the Anglo-American relationship, the foundation of free world alliances.

But Churchill never let others forget he had an American mother. Eden does not have this kind of emotional feeling toward the United States.

Thus he may in the long run be somewhat more difficult for Eisenhower and Dulles to deal with than Churchill was.

Huge Snowdrifts Paralyzing Area

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—"Extremely heavy" livestock losses were feared today in the wake of a fierce arctic storm whose 16-foot snowdrifts have paralyzed parts of Wyoming and Montana.

Hundreds of motorists and rural residents stranded by the two-day storm are believed safe.

Entire cities in the northeast part of the state still are isolated from highway travel, however. Some trains resumed their schedules with difficulty early today as winds continued to drift snow everywhere in the stricken area.

An estimated 400 to 500 persons were stranded in Douglas, in east central Wyoming. Officials said all are believed to have sufficient food and shelter.

Seventy motorists stalled along a 47-mile stretch between Lusk and Lingle, along the Wyoming-Nebraska border, were brought to safety late yesterday. Some were marooned in their autos for two nights.

Allen Simmons, an 18-year-old high school student missing for three days, stumbled into his Midwest home yesterday with no apparent ill effects. He took refuge both in his car and on a farm.

WILLIAM L. Chapman, Wyoming agriculture commissioner, said losses to livestock will run heavy. He estimated 90 per cent of cattle and sheep herds in the snow-bound area have been without food since early Saturday, when the storm struck. There is serious danger that many sheep will be buried alive.

A record 39 inches of snow fell during a 44-hour period in Sheridan, Wyo., and 33 inches, deepest on record, in Billings, Mont.

Fair weather prevailed over the blizzard area of the northern Rockies but light snow and rain fell from Lake Superior southwestward into central South Dakota and northern Nebraska. There were some snow flurries along the eastern slopes of the central Rockies.

Thunderstorms rumbled over the middle Mississippi and Ohio

Dad 'Squeezes' Baby To Death

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 24-year-old railroad baggage worker was held today in the squeezing-death of his infant son. Police said he admitted crushing the child's chest between his hands to stop his crying.

The father was Norman Dan Allen, Jr., whose 7-month-old son, Allan, died Monday in Berea Community Hospital. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said death was caused by lung hemorrhages, fractures of the left ribs and a stomach puncture.

Charges were not immediately filed, pending investigation.

valleys. Thunderstorms swept across eastern Arkansas and western Tennessee last night with heavy falls and strong winds.

Rainfall in Memphis measured more than 2 inches. Fifteen homes were reported destroyed or badly damaged near Lepanto, Ark., 30 miles northwest of Memphis. No serious injuries were reported.

Fair weather was reported over most of the area west of the Rockies and from the southern Great Lakes southwestward into Texas and in scattered areas along the East Coast.

It was warmer in most sections of the country.

Council Okays Fund To Buy Fire Apparatus

Long, and many times heated, haggling over the city's new fire truck may have come to an end in city council's meeting Tuesday night.

The lawmakers passed an ordinance which appropriated $26,000 for purchase of the equipment. There appeared to be good prospects for delivery of the truck by July 4.

Purchase of the pumper will be from funds made available by the city's new fire protection levy, passed by the voters last November. The city board of control said the Seagrave Corp. of Columbus submitted the "lowest bid" for the apparatus.

The board of control is composed of Mayor Bob Hedges, City Safety Director Miller Fissell, and City Service Director Dewey Speakman.

IT HAD been explained some time ago that the city, in considering the bids, would study not only the lowest figure but also "what they can give us alongside what we need."

Hedges said: "We've been told we'll have one of the best equipped fire trucks in the country, and one that will be better than anything Columbus has. I believe we have spent the taxpayer's money wisely, and I hope we don't have to use the truck very often."

Council also passed a companion measure of the allocation ordinance, providing for the issuance of notes by the city in anticipation of funds to be collected through the fire levy.

Cambridge Phone Company Struck

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Fifty-seven employees of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., including long distance operators, plant and commercial employees, were on strike here today.

Carl Mitchell, president of Local 4373 of the Communications Workers of America, said the strike had been called to settle what he termed grievances over working conditions. Major grievances, he said, included the union's request for an additional night operator and posting of a seniority list.

Ohio Senate Books Lengthy Recess

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Senate yesterday adopted a resolution declaring a legislative recess next weekend from Thursday noon until Tuesday night.

It will give legislators the opportunity of observing the Easter weekend and later watching the Cincinnati Redlegs baseball opener Monday and the Cleveland Indians opener Tuesday.

Council Hears Plan To Double Sewer Rates

Legislators Advised Hike Needed For Major Projects

Council was told Tuesday night that the time has come for the city to give serious consideration to a municipal income tax.

Although no formal measure is pending with that aim, Councilman George Crites renewed his warning that such a levy "seems to be the only way out" of increasing city obligations. Crites, chairman of the finance committee, made the comment during discussion on an ordinance that would double the city sewer rates.

Crites has frequently declared the city "sooner or later" will have to face an income tax. It was not yet clear to what extent council will consider such a levy now.

The anticipated ordinance calling for a 100 per cent increase in city sewer rates was sponsored by the board of public utilities. Council held the measure to first reading after long discussion, during which the city's financial pinch was given new emphasis.

INCREASED rates would affect all users of the sanitary sewer system.

The boosted scale was drawn up to help figure a way to finance major sewer improvements for the city's northern areas. However, Councilman John Robinson, one of those cool to the rate hike plan, pointed out that, even with doubled rates, property owners affected would have to be assessed for the work in their sections.

The doubled rates, Robinson said, would care only for a pumping station and a big "force main," a sewer line operating under pressure. It was previously pointed out also that the city will likely need the increase to help the community keep abreast of the state's anti-pollution program.

Opening discussion on the sewer rate ordinance, Crites said he would have to know a great deal more about present needs before he would support the measure. He noted the city tax rate had been raised, and added:

"I can't see people being raised 100 per cent in their sewer rates too. The taxpayers are already carrying quite a load. And don't forget too, that it looks as though we'll have to raise the water rates."

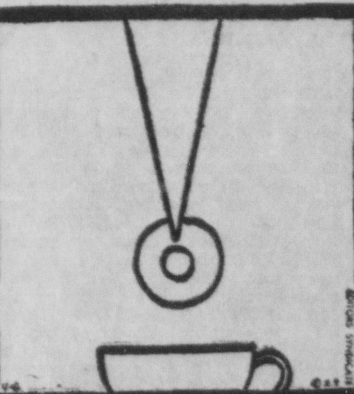

Crites declared "everything is being dumped on the property owner." They are being "penalized" because they are frugal enough to own their own homes," he said.

HE THEN renewed his warning that a city income tax seems inevitable for Circleville. The steps deemed necessary for the big sewer improvements illustrate the urgent need of more revenue, he maintained.

The finance chairman called attention to many other regional (Continued on Page Two)

I've got to confess. This Stork isn't really dunking. He's doing something that's normal for Storks. He's delivering a bouncing baby doughnut to a happy, sugar coated couple who've been praying for years that some day they'd be blessed with a little Storker. And you can bet that once the news of this Happy Event gets around there'll be a gala party at the bakery after which they'll hold the christening in a deep fry skillet full of shortening and Junior will have his choice of three names: "Cinnamon," "Plain" or "Chocolate." Unless, of course, a customer comes along and sees how young and tender his is. Then he'll simply be called, "Yummy."

'WE NEED CITY INCOME TAX'--- CRITES Ervin Leist's Pay Raised To $7,200

OHIO SENATE EYES POLL LAW CHANGE; HOUSE TO VOTE ON 4 NEW MEASURES

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Senate votes today on a House-approved bill to adjust Ohio's election law to the plan of the major political parties for shorter presidential campaigns.

Ohio law now requires certification of names for election ballots at least 75 days before an election. The bill before the Senate today would cut that time for presidential candidates to 70 days.

Both Republicans and Democrats plan to hold their national conventions later than usual next year. Without approval of the proposed Ohio law change, there might not be time to get the names of the presidential candidates on the ballot. That possibility alone would seem to assure approval of the bill.

While the Senate is occupied with the election law change and three minor measures, the House will be voting on four bills, one of which is aimed at preventing further highway damage by strip miners cutting too close to roads. The bill is the result of an instance in eastern Ohio where a portion of a highway collapsed.

THE PROPOSED law would ban open pit excavations closer than 50 feet from the right-of-way line of any public road without a permit issued by the proper authority for maintenance of the road. It also prohibits the deposit of mine refuse closer than 30 feet from a road or above the level of roadway.

The penalty for violation would be $100 for a first offense and $200 for each subsequent offense.

Permits for digging closer to a highway would be issued only after the mine operator posts a bond covering the estimated cost of any damage to a road.

These were the major legislative developments yesterday.

The House Insurance Committee killed by an 8-5 vote a bill to permit private insurance companies to write policies covering workmen's compensation.

Such insurance now is, and will continue to be for at least two more years, a state monopoly. The same committee voted, 13-

0, to recommend House passage of a bill to permit insurance companies doing business in Ohio to write so-called "multiple line" policies, policies which insure the buyer against different types of hazards. Supporters of such legislation declare it will save the policyholders money.

The Senate passed, 27-6, and sent to the House a bill to tighten state control over fly-by-night insurance companies selling health and accident policies. The measure permits the state superintendent of insurance to fine agents or companies which sell policies which the superintendent has disapproved.

THE BILL, which sponsors said sprung from some 1,200 recent complaints against some companies selling health and accident insurance, ran into a storm of opposition on grounds of "unprecedented" granting of power to the superintendent of insurance to levy fines, a function which opponents said invades the judicial realm.

The Senate passed and sent to

Huge Snowdrifts Paralyzing Area

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—"Extremely heavy" livestock losses were feared today in the wake of a fierce arctic storm whose 16-foot snowdrifts have paralyzed parts of Wyoming and Montana.

Hundreds of motorists and rural residents stranded by the two-day storm are believed safe.

Entire cities in the northeast part of the state still are isolated from highway travel, however. Some trains resumed their schedules with difficulty early today as winds continued to drift snow everywhere in the stricken area.

An estimated 400 to 500 persons were stranded in Douglas, in east central Wyoming. Officials said all are believed to have sufficient food and shelter.

Seventy motorists stalled along a 47-mile stretch between Lusk and Lingle, along the Wyoming-Nebraska border, were brought to safety late yesterday. Some were marooned in their autos for two nights.

Allen Simmons, an 18-year-old high school student missing for three days, stumbled into his Mid-west home yesterday with no apparent ill effects. He took refuge both in his car and on a farm.

WILLIAM L. Chapman, Wyoming agriculture commissioner, said losses to livestock will run heavy.

He estimated 90 per cent of cattle and sheep herds in the snow-bound area have been without food since early Saturday, when the storm struck. There is serious danger that many sheep will be buried alive.

A record 39 inches of snow fell during a 44-hour period in Sheridan, Wyo., and 33 inches, deepest on record, in Billings, Mont.

Fair weather prevailed over the blizzard area of the northern Rockies but light snow and rain fell from Lake Superior southwestward into central South Dakota and northern Nebraska. There were some snow flurries along the eastern slopes of the central Rockies.

Dad 'Squeezes' Baby To Death

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 24-year-old railroad baggage worker was held today in the squeezing-death of his infant son. Police said he admitted crushing the child's chest between his hands to stop his crying.

The father was Norman Du Rell, Jr., whose 7-month-old son, Allan, died Monday in Berea Community Hospital. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said death was caused by lung hemorrhages, fractures of the left ribs and a stomach puncture.

Charges were not immediately filed, pending investigation.

CAMBRIDGE PHONE COMPANY STRUCK

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Fifty-seven employees of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., including long distance operators, plant and commercial employees, were on strike here today.

Carl Mitchell, president of Local 4373 of the Communications Workers of America, said the strike had been called to settle what he termed grievances over working conditions. Major grievances, he said, included the union's request for an additional night operator and posting of a seniority list.

OHIO SENATE BOOKS LENGTHY RECESS

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Senate yesterday adopted a resolution declaring a legislative recess next weekend from Thursday noon until Tuesday night.

It will give legislators the opportunity of observing the Easter weekend and later watching the Cincinnati Redlegs baseball opener Monday and the Cleveland Indians opener Tuesday.

council and the utilities board. The proposal then came before the lawmaking body in the form of a resolution, in which the board said in part:

The Board of Public Utilities wishes... to point out to council that in the opinion of the board... that the Manager, Mr. Leist, has rendered very efficient, honest, meritorious, capable service to both the water and sewage departments, and that it will be impossible to replace him, at present salary, which is much lower than salaries of persons in like capacities.

"The board feels that in view of Mr. Leist's ability as manager and in view of present inadequate salary, that Mr. Leist should be offered a salary of $7,200 per annum, payable $600 per month, and by this means, his services may be retained to the benefit of this community."

"This resolution is by the members of the Board of Public Utilities and is not sponsored or promoted by Mr. Leist, but is the unanimous opinion of the Board, believing it to be for the best interest of the Water and Sewage Department and the Citizens of the City of Circleville."

MORE MORE MORE MORE

Members of the board are: John F. Mader, Dr. Ned B. Grigner, and George A. Fissell.

Leist's annual salary under the increase will be paid by taking $4,680 per annum from the water department and $2,520 from the sewage branch.

IT APPEARED for a time that the ordinance would have to be held to first reading when Councilman John Robinson indicated he could not approve it. Councilman Boyd Horn opposed the measure throughout, and finally cast the only dissenting vote.

Explaining his position, Robinson said:

"I think it's more than we can afford."

To which Council President Ben Gordon replied:

"I think everybody in council will agree with that."

Two opposing votes would have blocked suspension of rules, the only way to hurry through the ordinance on first reading. Finally, however, Robinson said he would reluctantly support the measure.

Utah Teenagers Rap Work Ruling

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Faced by rising protests from wage-earning teenagers, Gov. J. Bracken Lee yesterday offered to call a special session of the Utah Legislature.

Single subject of the session would be correction of a bill to lower the legal age at which boys may do farm work. Somehow, this amendment to the child labor law deleted a portion of the law which allows 14 and 15-year-olds to work in stores, offices, bowling alleys and private homes. It even put baby sitting under a legal cloud.

Council Hears Plan To Double Sewer Rates

cities which have an income tax. On the sewer rate ordinance, Councilman John Robinson said:

"I think a 100 percent increase in rates would be ridiculous. They say our sewer rates are lower than other communities, and maybe that's true. But the people of Circleville have paid for their sewage plant and should get the benefits from it."

"I don't think we should raise rates until we're showing a loss (in the sewage department)."

Councilman Richard Penn then outlined again the major plan to place new sewer lines and build a pumping station at Ted Lewis Park to improve sewer facilities for the north city areas. Engineers have often warned that the present lines are badly overloaded.

CRITES emphasized what he said was an injustice in the proposed sewer rate increase. A single property owner, living alone, he stressed, would be hit as hard as a family which includes many children.

A much more equitable arrangement, he explained, would be to base the sewer rates on the amount of water used.

During discussion on the income tax idea, Councilman Ray Cook said he doubted an example cited by Crites, who said a Circleville resident working in Columbus would have to pay an income tax in that city and also one in Circleville.

Cook said he didn't think a double tax could be levied in that manner. And Councilman Clarence Helvering laughed:

"You'll find out, if we pass one (an income tax)."

Assistant City Solicitor Kenneth Robbins then intervened to caution that the city must first be assured that the budget commission, on which the city is not represented, would not trim funds to Circleville after passage of an income levy.

"They're liable to think," he explained, "that—because of the income tax—the city is well taken care of."

AND CRITES replied:

"We're at the mercy of the budget commission. We can't have enough police and we can't have enough firemen."

Cook warned that property owners would have no choice but to go along if sewer rates are doubled. Otherwise, he said, the health department could declare health hazards in connection with their properties.

To which Helvering replied:

"Well then, why don't you make some suggestion as to how we're going to finance this big sewer improvement? I'm the man who put that double rate in there—I admit it! I did it to get it started!"

The ordinance will be up for second reading at council's meeting on April 19.

Eden Appointed As Britain's Prime Minister

57-Year-Old Diplomat Accepts Nod Given By Queen Elizabeth

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden became Britain's prime minister today. He is the 42nd man to hold the nation's highest political office, and the youngest in three decades.

The 57-year-old diplomat kissed the hand of Queen Elizabeth II and accepted her appointment to succeed his long-time political mentor, Sir Winston Churchill, who retired yesterday at the age of 80.

Trumpets of the Horse Guards band sounded in the distance, like a herald of the new political era, as the Landsome, debonair statesman in frock coat left Buckingham Palace under pale sunshine to drive back to his new duties.

The gray capital, with all its newspapers on strike, got news of the historic changeover in a palace communique read over the British Broadcasting Corp. The text:

"The Queen received the Right Hon. Sir Anthony Eden, MP, in audience this morning and offered him the posts of prime minister and first lord of the treasury. Sir Anthony Eden accepted Her Majesty's offer and kissed her hand upon his appointment."

CHURCHILL'S political crown prince of more than 13 years fidgeted nervously with his tie and frequently smoothed his gray hair as he arrived at the palace 12 minutes early for his 11 a. m. appointment with the sovereign.

But, on the return journey after his 40-minute interview in the Queen's private apartments, he appeared at ease and confident. A crowd of 3,000—many unaware, because of the newspaper strike, of what was going on—watched his sleek black limousine depart.

"Good luck to you, Sir Anthony!" a small crowd shouted on his return to the Foreign Office to wind up his business there.

"Thanks. Thank you all very much," he replied with a wave and a nod of his iron-gray head.

Sir Winston, in giving his resignation to the Queen yesterday afternoon, presumably "advised" her to appoint Eden to succeed him. Breaking with tradition to keep the day of resignation entirely Sir Winston's, the monarch waited overnight instead of calling her new first minister at once.

Political observers assumed Eden soon will call a general election to seek a clear mandate for his new government and a five-year term in office for the Conservatives. May 26 was the voting date most frequently mentioned.

3 Bound Over To Grand Jury For Robbery

Three men, accused of robbing a Chillicothe man of approximately $120 in an alley "mugging" Sunday night, were bound over to the Pickaway County Grand Jury Wednesday morning.

Bond for Ronnie Allen, French Conley and David Fouch was set at $5,000 each by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb. Each is charged with robbery.

Last year, Conley was indicted by the grand jury for robbery in connection with the alleged beating of a Circleville policeman in which the officer's gun was taken. However, Conley was acquitted of the charge in a later trial.

Allen plead guilty; Conley and Fouch plead innocent.

Allen was also fined $10 and costs in city court for passing a red light. He had been arrested last Saturday on this charge by Sgt. Turney Ross.

Prosecutor's Trial To Open April 25

COLUMBUS (AP)—Franklin County Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns and his appointee, County Detective Fred W. Selby are slated for trial here April 25.

Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett, announcing the trial date yesterday, said he would ask assignment of a judge for the case from another section of Ohio.

Kearns and Selby are charged with solicitation of a bribe. Kearns also is charged with acceptance of a bribe, obstructing justice and embezzlement of $210.

Town Stays Wet

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan. (AP)—A proposal to oust liquor stores failed yesterday in Medicine Lodge, where 55 years ago Carry Nation, hatchet in hand, opened her crusade against saloons.

C. D. Curtiss, commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, told delegates to the ninth annual Ohio Highway Engineering Conference yesterday that 30 states are now included in a simplified secondary road plan. But Ohio thus far is not included in the plan.

Surviving him in addition to his parents are: a brother, Donald Eugene, at home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiseman of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peters of Lockbourne, and several aunts and uncles.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in the Lockbourne Methodist church with the Rev. Paul Lindsey officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery, Lockbourne, by direction of the Bastian Funeral Home.

Friends may call in the funeral home after 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

MRS. GEORGE GINTHER

Mrs. George Ginther of Kingston Route 1 died unexpectedly at 8 p. m. Tuesday in her home in Pickaway County.

Mrs. Ginther was born Aug. 5, 1878 near Hallsville, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stahl.

She was preceded in death by her husband, whom she married June 10, 1932.

Surviving her are four grandchildren, Lloyd Ginther of Kingston Route 1, Rex Waldington of Columbus, George Waldington of Dayton and Gene Waldington of Circleville, and a nephew, George Ginther Jr. of Rector, Ark.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday in the Hill Funeral Home of Kingston with the Rev. James Bartlett officiating. Burial will be in Eastlawn Cemetery, Columbus.

Friends may call in the funeral home after 6 p. m. Wednesday.

3 Bound Over To Grand Jury For Robbery

Three men, accused of robbing a Chillicothe man of approximately $120 in an alley "mugging" Sunday night, were bound over to the Pickaway County Grand Jury Wednesday morning.

Bond for Ronnie Allen, French Conley and David Fouch was set at $5,000 each by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb. Each is charged with robbery.

Last year, Conley was indicted by the grand jury for robbery in connection with the alleged beating of a Circleville policeman in which the officer's gun was taken. However, Conley was acquitted of the charge in a later trial.

Allen plead guilty; Conley and Fouch plead innocent.

Allen was also fined $10 and costs in city court for passing a red light. He had been arrested last Saturday on this charge by Sgt. Turney Ross.

Prosecutor's Trial To Open April 25

COLUMBUS (AP)—Franklin County Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns and his appointee, County Detective Fred W. Selby are slated for trial here April 25.

Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett, announcing the trial date yesterday, said he would ask assignment of a judge for the case from another section of Ohio.

Kearns and Selby are charged with solicitation of a bribe. Kearns also is charged with acceptance of a bribe, obstructing justice and embezzlement of $210.

Town Stays Wet

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan. (AP)—A proposal to oust liquor stores failed yesterday in Medicine Lodge, where 55 years ago Carry Nation, hatchet in hand, opened her crusade against saloons.

C. D. Curtiss, commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, told delegates to the ninth annual Ohio Highway Engineering Conference yesterday that 30 states are now included in a simplified secondary road plan. But Ohio thus far is not included in the plan.

Walt Cummins, Ashville Farmer, Found Guilty On Three Counts

A conviction against an Ashville Route 2 farmer Tuesday, which could have meant $1,200 in fines and eight months in the county jail, "would be a vindication of the Pickaway County sheriff's department" County Prosecutor William Ammer said in his remarks.

Walter Cummins, 57, was found guilty in Common Pleas Court on three counts of a recent grand jury indictment. He council and the utilities board. The proposal then came before the lawmaking body in the form of a resolution, in which the board said in part:

"The Board of Public Utilities wishes... to point out to council that in the opinion of the board... that the Manager, Mr. Leist, has rendered very efficient, honest, meritorious, capable service to both the water and sewage departments, and that it will be impossible to replace him, at present salary, which is much lower than salaries of persons in like capacities.

"The board feels that in view of Mr. Leist's ability as manager and in view of present inadequate salary, that Mr. Leist should be offered a salary of $7,200 per annum, payable $600 per month, and by this means, his services may be retained to the benefit of this community.

"This resolution is by the members of the Board of Public Utilities and is not sponsored or promoted by Mr. Leist, but is the unanimous opinion of the Board, believing it to be for the best interest of the Water and Sewage Department and the Citizens of the City of Circleville."

Members of the board are: John F. Mader, Dr. Ned B. Griner, and George A. Fissell.

Leist's annual salary under the increase will be paid by taking $4,680 per annum from the water department and $2,520 from the sewage branch.

IT APPEARED for a time that the ordinance would have to be held to first reading when Councilman John Robinson indicated he could not approve it. Councilman Boyd Horn opposed the measure throughout, and finally cast the only dissenting vote.

Explaining his position, Robinson said:

"I think it's more than we can afford."

To which Council President Ben Gordon replied:

"I think everybody in council will agree with that."

Two opposing votes would have blocked suspension of rules, the only way to hurry through the ordinance on first reading. Finally, however, Robinson said he would reluctantly support the measure.

Utah Teenagers Rap Work Ruling

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Faced by rising protests from wage-earning teenagers, Gov. J. Bracken Lee yesterday offered to call a special session of the Utah Legislature.

Single subject of the session would be correction of a bill to lower the legal age at which boys may do farm work. Somehow, this amendment to the child labor law deleted a portion of the law which allows 14 and 15-year-olds to work in stores, offices, bowling alleys and private homes. It even put baby sitting under a legal cloud.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the differences between the administrations of President Eisenhower and President Truman is the difference between fire and rain.

The peppery Truman spouted flame when he got mad enough. He scorched people he thought were shoving him around, particularly Republicans in Congress. He had a sharp tongue, and in public. But the Republicans in Congress were a lot rougher on Truman than the Democrats are on Eisenhower. The Democrats may open up as the 1956 elections draw near. They're showing some signs of it now.

Eisenhower, unlike Truman, holds his tongue and his fire, in public at least. As he says himself, he doesn't get personal. That sort of knocks the ground out — beforehand — from under anyone with a yen to attack him.

Eisenhower dampens his opposition and his critics by being as impersonal and cool as rain. In public, that is. What he says in the privacy of the White House is not known. He is said to have quite a temper.

Even if he had a desire to slug the Democrats, this would be a poor time to try it anyway. He needs their help since they will control Congress until the 1956 elections.

But, while Eisenhower refrains from adding fuel to the fire of his opposition by public and personal criticism, he and his assistants apparently work hard behind the scenes to overcome roadblocks.

A good example was in the recent attempt of some Democrats to give everyone a $20 income tax cut. Eisenhower's administration said the government couldn't afford it. He got enough votes lined up in Congress to save the day for him.

Truman had trouble with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio). He blasted both of them. They returned the compliment.

For a while after he won the Republican presidential nomination from Taft it seemed Eisenhower might have trouble with him too. But Eisenhower won him over. Taft became his most valuable helper.

Eisenhower had trouble with McCarthy but handled him much differently from Truman, and more effectively. Eisenhower himself has never said a word against the Wisconsin senator. But his aides put the skids under the senator.

The result: Eisenhower is still riding high while McCarthy has been pushed into the background and is still probably trying to figure out what hit him.

To go through the McCarthy hurricane, with his popularity seemingly undiminished, was no mean political feat for a man who has called himself a political amateur.

Eisenhower's career may stand or fall on something not directly connected with politicians at all. For instance, a decision he made on a crisis in Asia might win him re-election or wreck him.

Government's Estimate Brings Varying Views From Business Experts

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A seven-billion-dollar blue chip has been tossed into the guessing game over the chances of good times continuing through the summer and fall.

Governmental jugglers of statistics say Americans are likely to have that much more money to spend this year than last—if the present record annual rate of increase in total personal income is maintained.

Businessmen and economists have been trying of late to guess whether the present fast clip of industrial and trade activity can last.

One school of thought holds that the increase in purchasing power which the seven-billion-dollar increase in personal income indicates will keep the ball rolling.

The more cautious, however, think that a summer slowdown is inevitable and that the trend in the fall can't be sighted clearly as yet. Doubts center particularly on the three-highest stepping industries of the moment — automobiles, construction and steel.

The stock market reflects this uncertainty—not over the spring, where all looks blooming, but over the fall, where doubts cloud the future.

The Commerce Department's report that personal income rose in February to an all-time high of 22 1/2 billion dollars at an annual rate will cheer the bullish. The amount undoubtedly rose still higher in March. April shows early signs of being as good or better. The optimistic argue that since taxes are about the same level this year as last almost of all the increase will be carried over into greater purchasing power. In February 1953, personal income was seven billion lower than this February, and still declining. Personal income in April of last year touched the recession low of 28 1/2 billion dollars.

Most of the rise this year has been in wages and salaries, and largely in factory payrolls of the durable goods industries.

Last fall the stock market began to discount today's good news. Now traders are trying to guess the nation's economic health six months from today.

Its health seems fine today. Steel production is only a step below the record tonnage it reached just two years ago. Auto production is setting new records. Construction activity set a record last month, 14 per cent higher than in March 1954.

Shoe makers turned out a record number of pairs in the first three months of this year. The clothing industry reports output topping the like period last year.

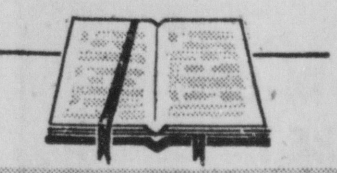

Easter shopping is sending retail sales totals higher in most sections of the country. The increased factory payrolls appear to be passing along quickly to the storekeepers.

The question is: Will the momentum of this buying keep the whole economy climbing? If the goods are bought in the stores, factories can hope for reorders. That will keep factor payrolls high.

But the cautious are wondering how much of the present buying may be in form of borrowing from the future. They argue the time must come when the demand for 1955 cars is satisfied, when consumers have bought as many appliances on time as even the increased factory payrolls can cover. They fear that time may coin-

Only 3 Employees Said To Be Risks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Only three of the State Department's 11,282 employees were fired as security risks in 1954. Two of these were accused of Communist party affiliation.

Dennis A. Flinn, the department's security director, so advised the House Appropriations Committee recently. He mentioned no names.

Under questioning by committee members, Flinn said that, in all, 104 State Department employees have been fired for sex perversion. R. W. Scott McLeod, the department's security administrator, also told the committee full field investigations of all department employees have been completed.

Panel Says Comic Books Still 'Foul'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Many of the comic books bearing the seal of the Comics Magazine Assn. of America are still objectionable under the standards of a Cincinnati group.

The Committee on Evaluation of Comic Books issued its annual ratings after all books sold on Cincinnati newsstands were purchased and evaluated.

Rated were 323 titles, with 161 or almost 50 per cent tabbed "objectionably," 41 of 13 per cent "some objection" and 121 or 37 per cent "no objection." The objectionably titles gained eight per cent over last year.

Most of the objectionably magazines bore the seal issued by Judge Charles F. Murphy, administrator of the code of the Comics Magazine Assn. A committee member said these numbered 131.

The "no objection" group contained titles both with and without the seal.

The books are rated according to their portrayal of crime, sex, language, morals and wholesomeness.

The committee, functioning for the last seven years, said women in comic books are no longer so indecently attired but complained some publications feature "morbidly romantic heroines."

The annual erosion loss in the United States has been estimated at 400 million dollars.

Profile Of Sir Anthony

Eden Given Full Training To Become Prime Minister

Editor's Note—What kind of man is the new Prime Minister of Britain? This is the first in a series of articles giving the answers. The writer has been an AP correspondent in Europe since 1938.

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—If ever a man was trained to be prime minister of Great Britain, that man is Sir Anthony Eden.

For more than half of his 57 years, Eden has been a member of the House of Commons. For about a quarter of a century he has been the fair-haired boy of the Conservative party. Most everyone, including Eden himself, felt that someday he must become prime minister.

But for years historic personalities stood between him and the top. First there was Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who managed the abdication of King Edward VIII, and took an affectionate interest in Eden's future. Then there was Neville Chamberlain, advocate of appeasement, with whom Eden disagreed.

Finally there was Winston Churchill. Eden labored for him with selfless loyalty. Churchill rewarded him, several years ago, by unofficially naming him his "heir apparent."

Now Eden steps into his heritage, master of 10 Downing St.

Problems hammer constantly at the door of No. 10. Peace or war, cold or hot, East or West, the seven seas, the British Commonwealth, socialism and how much of it, coexistence with the Communists, the atomic age, relations with America—the new Prime Minister is bound to be about the busiest man in Britain. He will need the health and strength which were restored to him in a Boston hospital in 1953.

The British themselves are giving him a new scrutiny. He has been on the scene and in the papers since 1923, when he first came up to Parliament from Leamington. He was the promising young man, a hustling man who got things done smoothly, and served his prime ministers and his country in highly important but in somewhat junior capacities. Like the Prince of Wales (now Duke of Windsor) before him, there was a tendency to think of him as being perpetually young, and not yet quite ready for major responsibilities.

That's all over. In their new appraisal, the British see, superficially and first of all, just about the most presentable man in the Commonwealth.

He has a hot temper underneath, but the first impression is one of easy charm. He has been everywhere. He has seen just about everything. He fought in Flanders like most Englishmen of his age. There was no easy command for Capt. Eden—he went over the top on dark nights. Once on the Somme, under star shells and machine-gun fire, he dragged back a sergeant whose thigh bone had been shattered.

Eden radiates a reserved warmth, as befits a man of centuries of aristocratic background. He speaks knowledgeably about most anything. He is slim, tall and well dressed. The Eden moustache, once quite a bush, is like a properly cropped English hedge.

His hair is becoming grayer, and the lines of his face more pronounced. There is a suggestion of a fold under the chin.

Eden has a feel for clothes. Yet, say his close associates, he pays comparatively little attention to what he wears.

"I can't remember when he was in last to look at something new," said his tailor, not so long ago. "But the tailor who couldn't make a smart suit for such a figure simply doesn't know his craft."

And the barber who couldn't give a good haircut to such a head ought to be shearing sheep," said a hair dresser in Jermyn Street.

Such speculations as to his appearance made Eden furious. He winces every time he gets on to another best-dressed-men list.

Three times foreign secretary, Churchill's other half, war secretary, the man who scolded Mussolini and helped write the United Nations Charter does not fancy being regarded a clothes horse.

Tomorrow—The start of a career.

General Fund Up, Then Down Again

Chairman George Crites of city council's finance committee warned his fellow lawmakers Tuesday night not to get any erroneous ideas from a balance listed for the general fund at the end of March. The balance at that time was $7,125.91, but Crites explained that a city payroll amounting to $4,858.25 on April 1 knocked the balance down to $2,267.66. Council accepted the financial report submitted by City Auditor Lillian Young for the month of March.

The report, showing funds, receipts, expenditures and balances, was as follows:

General Fund, $12,257.29, 10,002.84, 7,125.91; Water Works Oper. Fund, 6,548.93, 9,809.23, 35,767.13; Sewage Disposal Fund, 2,178.55, 2,037.93, 11,719.19; Auto St. Repair Fund, 543.83, 721.85, 4,173.79; Gasoline Tax Fund, 4,039.00, 2,411.81, 5,830.50; Water Works Trust Fund, 85.00, 65.00, 2,475.00; Police Pension Fund, 6.00, 309.75, 16,385.59; Firemen Pension Fund, 125.00, 21.01.96; Parking Meter Collection, 2,438.25.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has switched his voting residence from New York to Pennsylvania, where he owns a farm.

To make it official, Francis Worley, a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives arranged to present Eisenhower a resolution of the State Legislature welcoming him as a resident of Adams County. Eisenhower's farm, on the Gettysburg battlefield, is in Adams County, which Worley represents.

About Expenses

NEW YORK (AP)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas told a women's Republican group of a recent visit he paid to the office of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

He said he found Wilson signing personal checks, looking "very sour." As president of General Motors, Wilson made well over half a million dollars a year. As defense secretary his salary is $22,500 a year.

Wilson observed wryly: "My wife must still think I work for General Motors."

U.S. Inventiveness Said On Decline

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Eugene Ayers, research scientist of the Gulf Research and Development Co., Pittsburgh, says he is disturbed that American inventiveness is falling down. He spoke last night before the Ohio State University chapter of Sigma Xi, scientific honor society.

Dr. Ayers said engineers are trying for perfection of present services instead of striving for development of new inventions. This, he said, is narrowing our changes for future improvement.

Free public schools were established in New Haven, Conn., in 1642.

up deductions for charity; time buying

Income tax time will be a little easier on the pocketbook this year. For example, you'll be able to increase your charity deductions to as much as 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income, if at least 10 per cent is given to a church, an association of churches, an educational institution or a hospital.

Otherwise, the limit on deductions for contributions is 20 per cent as in the past.

Also, carrying charges on installment purchases, up to 6 per cent of unpaid balances, now are deductible if the carrying charge is stated separately in the sales contract.

Profile Of Sir Anthony

Eden Given Full Training To Become Prime Minister

Editor's Note—What kind of man is the new Prime Minister of Britain? This is the first in a series of articles giving the answers. The writer has been an AP correspondent in Europe since 1938.

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
LONDON (AP)—If ever a man was trained to be prime minister of Great Britain, that man is Sir Anthony Eden.

For more than half of his 57 years, Eden has been a member of the House of Commons. For about a quarter of a century he has been the fair-haired boy of the Conservative party. Most everyone, including Eden himself, felt that someday he must become prime minister.

But for years historic personalities stood between him and the top. First there was Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who managed the abdication of King Edward VIII, and took an affectionate interest in Eden's future. Then there was Neville Chamberlain, advocate of appeasement, with whom Eden disagreed.

Finally there was Winston Churchill. Eden labored for him with selfless loyalty. Churchill rewarded him, several years ago, by unofficially naming him his "heir apparent."

Now Eden steps into his heritage, master of 10 Downing St. Problems hammer constantly at the door of No. 10. Peace or war, cold or hot, East or West, the seven seas, the British Commonwealth, socialism and how much of it, coexistence with the Communists, the atomic age, relations with America—the new Prime Minister is bound to be about the business man in Britain. He will need the health and strength which were restored to him in a Boston hospital in 1953.

The British themselves are giving him a new scrutiny. He has been on the scene and in the papers since 1923, when he first came up to Parliament from Leamington. He was the promising young man, a hustling man who got things done smoothly, and served his prime ministers and his country in highly important but in somewhat junior capacities. Like the Prince of Wales (now Duke of Windsor) before him, there was a tendency to think of him as being perpetually young, and not yet quite ready for major responsibilities.

That's all over. In their new appraisal, the British see, superficially and first of all, just about the most presentable man in the Commonwealth.

He has a hot temper underneath, but the first impression is one of easy charm. He has been everywhere. He has seen just about everything. He fought in Flanders like most Englishmen of his age. There was no easy command for Capt. Eden—he went over the top on dark nights. Once on the Somme, under star shells and machine-gun fire, he dragged back a sergeant whose thigh bone had been shattered.

Eden radiates a reserved warmth, as befits a man of centuries of aristocratic background. He speaks knowledgeably about most anything. He is slim, tall and well dressed. The Eden moustache, once quite a bush, is like a properly cropped English hedge.

His hair is becoming grayer, and the lines of his face more pronounced. There is a suggestion of a fold under the chin.

Eden has a feel for clothes. Yet, say his close associates, he pays comparatively little attention to what he wears.

"I can't remember when he was in last to look at something new," said his tailor, not so long ago. "But the tailor who couldn't make a smart suit for such a figure simply doesn't know his craft."

"And the barber who couldn't give a good haircut to such a head ought to be shearing sheep," said a hair dresser in Jermyn Street.

Such speculations as to his appearance made Eden furious. He winces every time he gets on to another best-dressed-men list.

Three times foreign secretary, Churchill's other half, war secretary, the man who scolded Mussolini and helped write the United Nations Charter does not fancy being regarded a clothes horse.

Tomorrow—The start of a career.

David O. Dowler Gets Appointment To IFYE Group

David O. Dowler, of Ashville, has been appointed to serve on the National Advisory Committee for the International Farm Youth Exchange project, which holds its annual meeting in Washington, D. C. April 7 and 8.

Eva Jo Lickey, of Virginia, and Dowler were nominated by the IFYE staff as the two IFYE alumni on this committee.

The committee will reexamine the role of IFYE in a broader frame of reference along with discussion on detailed organizational and operated features of the IFYE program.

David was an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to India in 1953.

U.S. Inventiveness Said On Decline

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Eugene Ayers, research scientist of the Gulf Research and Development Co., Pittsburgh, says he is disturbed that American inventiveness is falling down. He spoke last night before the Ohio State University chapter of Sigma Xi, scientific honor society.

Dr. Ayers said engineers are trying for perfection of present services instead of striving for development of new inventions. This, he said, is narrowing our changes for future improvement.

Tax Savers

up deductions for charity; time buying

Income tax time will be a little easier on the pocketbook this year. For example, you'll be able to increase your charity deductions to as much as 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income, if at least 10 per cent is given to a church, an association of churches, an educational institution or a hospital.

Otherwise, the limit on deductions for contributions is 20 per cent as in the past.

Also, carrying charges on installment purchases, up to 6 per cent of unpaid balances, now are deductible if the carrying charge is stated separately in the sales contract.

General Fund Up, Then Down Again

Chairman George Crites of city council's finance committee warned his fellow lawmakers Tuesday night not to get any erroneous ideas from a balance listed for the general fund at the end of March. The balance at that time was $7,125.91, but Crites explained that a city payroll amounting to $4,858.25 on April 1 knocked the balance down to $2,267.66. Council accepted the financial report submitted by City Auditor Lillian

Young for the month of March. The report, showing funds, receipts, expenditures and balances, was as follows:

General Fund, $12,257.29, 10,002.84, 7,125.91; Water Works Oper. Fund, 6,548.93, 9,809.23, 35,767.13; Sewage Disposal Fund, 2,178.55, 2,037.93, 11,719.19; Auto St. Repair Fund, 543.83, 721.85, 4,173.79; Gasoline Tax Fund, 4,039.00, 2,411.81, 5,830.50; Water Works Trust Fund, 85.00, 65.00, 2,475.00; Police Pension Fund, 6.00, 309.75, 16,385.59; Firemen Pension Fund, 125.00, 21.01; Parking Meter Collection, 2,438.25.

Eisenhower Named Pennsylvania Voter

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has switched his voting residence from New York to Pennsylvania, where he owns a farm.

To make it official, Francis Worley, a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives arranged to present Eisenhower a resolution of the State Legislature welcoming him as a resident of Adams County. Eisenhower's farm, on the Gettysburg battlefield, is in Adams County, which Worley represents.

About Expenses

NEW YORK (AP)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas told a women's Republican group of a recent visit he paid to the office of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

He said he found Wilson signing personal checks, looking "very sour." As president of General Motors, Wilson made well over half a million dollars a year. As defense secretary his salary is $22,500 a year.

Wilson observed wryly: "My wife must still think I work for General Motors."

Walkout Ended

NEW LEXINGTON (AP)—Production has resumed at the Evans Reamer Plant, after workers voted to accept a company wage offer to end a strike that began last Thursday. About 175 workers were affected in the walkout. No details of the settlement were given.

BRIGHTER PICTURE

AT LONG LAST there are indications that West Germany is to be rearmend, in spite of Russian opposition and lack of enthusiasm on the part of the French. Defense officials have announced the first division of a West German army of 500,000 will be ready for action in 18 months, but that more than two years will be required to recruit, arm and train the entire force.

Much of the necessary legislation had been passed by the West German parliament before France completed ratification of the arms agreement. The Paris agreement authorizes 12 German divisions, which is regarded as the largest possible force West Germany can muster and equip in the next five years.

Chancellor Adenauer is described in one dispatch from Germany as still hopeful that Russia will agree to German reunification, but there is not the remotest possibility of this except on terms that would place all of Germany under Russia's heel.

Soviet-controlled East Germany now has 120,000 men under arms, and military experts say this force could not be expanded greatly. There are only 18 million people in East Germany, where there are serious food shortages which have undermined the health of the people, making it difficult to find men fit for military service.

With a population of 49 million well fed and healthy people in West Germany, there is a corresponding number of men available for service. When West Germany is armed and able to defend its own territory, danger of Russian invasion will be greatly lessened. The over-all picture in Europe is brighter.

INTO THE FIRE

AMERICANS in Europe who for one reason or another defeat to the East are to be pitted on several scores. Information pieced together by Allied intelligence sources shows that these people, who have fled in many cases to escape some mental or emotional problem, are subjected to anything but pleasant treatment by their communist hosts.

As main "reception center" the communists have set up a detention camp deep in East Germany in which Americans and other Westerners are brainwashed in earnest. If the defectors object to this treatment they find themselves tabbed as spies and put away in Siberia for a long stretch. If they go along with the reorientation, the communists pump them full of propaganda and put them on exhibit to win more converts from the non-communists behind the iron curtain.

The defectors can always decide to return to the West and face the music awaiting them there, but not without risking life and limb in making good an escape through the equivalent of enemy territory.

As more news filters back on what happens to those who jump the border into Eastern Europe, the Western defection rate—never high—can be expected to drop sharply.

These Days

Vice Admiral Wilson Brown had the extraordinary experience of serving as the Naval Aide to four Presidents, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, and for a short time, Truman. Few men have had the opportunity of being so constantly with so many Presidents of the United States.

In his memoirs which I read in the magazines, "American Heritage," he recounts this experience with President Truman: "During the wakeful hours of the night before I had asked myself what was the most important problem of the war situation that I should bring to President Truman's attention while I still had the chance. I decided that the increasing Russian arrogance since Yalta was most important. Circumstances gave me a good opening, for I had the report of Lend-Lease that came to my desk each month for delivery to the President. And so when Leahy had finished his brief summing up of problems before the Joint Staff, I told President Truman about Stalin's bitter messages accusing us of bad faith in negotiations for the surrender of Austrian troops and of President Roosevelt's angry reply.

"I mentioned also Roosevelt's growing concern for the increasing number of reports of Russian misdeeds. I handed Mr. Truman, an inventory of Lend-Lease supplies then en route to Russia—a perfectly amazing list of shiploads of locomotives, railroad cars, miles of track, trucks, artillery, gasoline, food—and stated that the Russian people were not being told where those vast stores came from, and that the Russian government never even said 'thank you' to us. I urged the President to take the list home and study it carefully at his leisure. 'Thank you, I will,' he said, and I felt confident that he would not forget the matter in the flurry of his first day of office."

It is a small episode but it opens the door to broad speculation as to what might have developed in American-Russian relations had Roosevelt lived out his fourth term. We have here authentic, internal evidence that Roosevelt was growing concerned over the increasing number of reports of Russian misdeeds. This was after Yalta where Roosevelt gave Stalin more land and souls than Satin asked for. It was Roosevelt who suggested the restoration of Russia's 'rights' in Manchuria, which effectively made it possible for Russia to conquer China and set up a Chinese Communist government in that country.

Roosevelt, we know, was not moving in the dark. He had conceived "The Grand Design," the assumption that American generosity would convince Stalin that this country had no imperialistic intentions, that we sought only to give but not take.

Nobody has yet reported what Stalin thought of it all. In terms of Marxian dialectical materialism, he must have believed us to be stupid, because no nation could succeed in the struggle for existence which gave away its strength and potentials to its enemies. And Stalin knew who the next enemy of the United States would be because Lenin had announced it many years before.

Roosevelt's disappointment must have been unendurable. He had staked the fate of his nation on the correctness of his appraisal of Stalin's character. He had given to Russia—that is, to Stalin—$11,000,000,000 of America's wealth to win the Communist leader over to Roosevelt's conception of the future, embodied perhaps in the Atlantic Charter.

Tell Her It's MURDER

Copyright, 1954, by Helen Reilly. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Felham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But from now in New York, and aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night, leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of Midnight Mike. Andrus hides out in a cheap local hotel that night and when next morning the silver flash is found by the body of the murdered man, Andrus is again wanted by the police. But Jim's loyal friend, Susan Dwight, helps him evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that her grieving half-sister, Regina Felham, still loves this man!

CHAPTER TEN

SUSAN DWIGHT was aware of what she was doing, and frightened at it; she kept her foot down hard on the accelerator. The car, Barry Lofting's car, leaped ahead. Neppan avenue along which they were flying north was almost empty for four or five blocks but there were more lights and more cars up at the junction at Ellwell. If she could reach the stream of traffic there, lose herself in it . . . She cut in front of a truck, zoomed past a string of cars with inches to spare. She couldn't keep this up for long . . .

Behind them the siren continued to rise and fall. Twisted around on the seat beside her Andrus looked through the rear window. He couldn't see the police car but it was at their heels and coming on fast. He said, "You'd better let me out, get away you say."

She didn't answer. Her attention was on her driving. She had no time for anything else. She had lived in Yonkers until she was 18 and knew it well—but so did Sgt. Dupasse.

A plan was beginning to form in her mind. The police were closer, perhaps a block and a half behind, cars were moving over; at the next intersection she swung the wheel, all but took the bumper from another car, shot right, then left, then right again. The dark narrow streets of the main stem were uncrowded. She went south three blocks doubling on the trail then turned west.

Now to cross the avenue. Caution here, haste would be fatal. She listened. The siren was up ahead. She slid sedately across the trolley tracks and on in the direction of the river. Broader, tree-lined streets, quiet houses; 10 minutes later she turned into a curving road above the Hudson, ran along a couple of hundred yards, slowed, and turned into a cement driveway that led to a garage.

The garage door was up. Susan ran the car into the garage, killed the engine, jumped out, went back and pulled the lever. The door fell snugly into place. Andrus stood erect on the cement floor and walked over to her. She was peering through the small window. It was very dark in the garage. He had only a glimpse of her intent face. He said, "What are we, whose garage is this?" She said, "Wait a minute, I want to see if we were followed." Twice cars went peacefully past but there was no alarm, no siren, no police pulling up and tumbling out.

"Got any cigarettes?" Andrus said. Copyright, 1954, by Helen Reilly. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

asked, leaning against the closed doors and ironically aping her mood of detachment. She tossed him a pack. At the end of a couple of minutes she turned with a little sigh. But there was no softness in her voice when she said, "Did you kill Michael Brodsky?"

"I did not," Andrus spoke quietly. Susan nodded. "I didn't think so." She told him what had happened. The taxi man who had driven to his hotel on the first day of his futile search for Brodsky had called Dupasse at the house. "I followed Dupasse down to the hotel, and saw you dash out." She explained about the medical examiner, Dr. Farr, and Dupasse, how Doctor Farr's interest in the dead man had aroused Dupasse's suspicion. "I'm responsible for getting you into this fix, I don't like that. What are you going to do?"

Andrus shrugged. "I don't know what I can do. The moment I show myself in these clothes, with this face, I'll be picked up."

She considered that. "Well, let's get out of here. Friends of mine, the Gilbeys, own this house. Sard Gilbey's in the hospital, and his wife Rosetta is with him, or ought to be, but I'd better have a look. I know where the key is. Stay here till I come back."

Three minutes later, by way of a short inside stairs, Andrus was in the kitchen at the back of the pretty little house, with the doors locked and the shades drawn, wolfing cheese and crackers and drinking a glass of milk. Susan Dwight had gone upstairs. She rejoined him, carrying a big pasteboard box that exuded an odor of DDT. "Clothes," she said. "Sard's," and looked at the clock. "There's plenty of time. Visiting hours are until 9 Sunday night and Rosetta will stay until the last."

Andrus was astonished at her coyness. He surveyed her. "You're going to get into trouble over this. Have you thought about that?" "I don't see why," Susan said, biting into one of Andrus's saltines. "We were too far away for the police to see the license number of Barry's car, and there are thousands like it on the roads. Mass production comes into its own. Dupasse gave chase because you weren't anywhere on that block and he saw our tail lights moving off. I could say you cornered me, I suppose, but I'd rather not, if it can be helped. I don't want anyone at the house to know about it, that I went anywhere near that hotel . . . Tell me about last night."

Andrus did, succinctly, up to and including his discovery of the silver of glass buried in the cloth of his coat late that afternoon. Susan stared at him. "The man who killed Brodsky was there in the darkness below the cliff, actually there, and he tried to kill you?"

"That's right," Andrus told her what he had done with the silver of glass, and at her puzzled look, "I put it there because it will prove that I found the splinter embedded in my coat while I was in that hotel room."

"How do you propose to have it found, and by whom?" "That can be taken care of later. Just now I want to remain loose. I have things to do."

"What things?" He didn't want another death on his conscience, but a killer had to be found.

DIET AND HEALTH

Vitamin C For Baby

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST babies like orange juice and will drink it readily.

Orange juice, as I told you yesterday, contains vitamin C, an important part of a baby's diet. Frozen or Canned

You can give your baby frozen or canned juice or juice from fresh oranges. Frozen or canned juice should be mixed with water which has first been boiled and then allowed to cool.

If you use fresh oranges, sweet oranges are probably best. If you can't get sweet oranges, you might add just enough sugar to sweeten the juice.

Before Cutting Orange

Before cutting the orange, dip it and the knife you use briefly into boiling water. Be sure you wipe them with a clean cloth. This will help get rid of any dirt and germs which may be on them.

Some doctors advise straining the juice. You'll have to do this if you give the baby his juice from a bottle. Pour the juice through a fine 36-mesh strainer.

When to Give It

I think you will find it best to give your tot his orange juice right after he gets his cod-liver oil. That would be about 9 a.m., or an hour before his 10 o'clock feeding.

The baby will probably take his orange juice from a spoon. I told you how much to give him yesterday, remember? However, if he refuses to take it this way, try giving it to him in a bottle.

A Few Tips

Here are a couple of tips about this:

When he first begins taking orange juice and only a few teaspoonsful are needed, dilute the juice with an equal amount of lukewarm water. The water, of course, must be either specially prepared baby water or boiled water. By diluting it in this way, you make sure the baby gets all his juice. You can stop diluting it by the time he is getting more than four teaspoonsful.

One more thing to remember: Don't mix the juice with water that is too hot. Heat destroys many of the vitamins in the juice.

By the time your baby is six months old, he'll probably drink his juice from a cup.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

WASHINGTON — The Democrats' request that President Eisenhower exact greater teamwork — "skull practice" — among his cabinet members and policy makers has obtained results, whereas friendly suggestions to this effect in the past had failed to jar Ike into action.

Recent Democratic visitors have told the President, albeit gently, that it was impossible for them to cooperate with him, especially on foreign affairs, if the flow of contradictory and confusing statements from supposedly "responsible sources" was to continue.

Similar suggestions have reached the White House and the State Department from abroad, where our seemingly wavering and indecisive foreign policy has created an impression of "American unsteadiness."

YALTA RELEASE—But Ike himself has finally been disturbed by some of his associates' blunders and inconsistencies. He did not like the way the release of the Yalta papers was handled, although he felt that he had to support the action after it was done.

The Yalta episode had a bad effect on us abroad. On Monday, Secretary Dulles informed Prime Minister Churchill that the documents would not be made public, in deference to his objections. Several days later, and without careful notice or preparation, they were tossed into the reporters' laps because a Dulles assistant had slipped a copy to a New York Times news man.

BUDGET BLUES — A great deal of the alarming talk in Washington these April days can be discounted. It may be attributed to a disease quite prevalent among high officials when congressional committees are considering cabinet members' request for funds for fiscal 1956. The ailment is diagnosed as "budget blues."

When Admiral Carney warns of Russian submarines prowling in American or Formosan waters, he is prodding Congress to be generous. When Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, SHAPE commander, makes a special trip home to report on Russian superiority in ground forces, planes and conventional weapons, he has in mind the Army's budgetary requests.

When J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, deplores an "increase in personal and vicious" forms of crime, he is talking for its effect on Capitol Hill. Gloomy outbursts at Washington in the springtime are as regular and recurrent as young love.

BRIGHTER PICTURE

AT LONG LAST there are indications that West Germany is to be rearmed, in spite of Russian opposition and lack of enthusiasm on the part of the French. Defense officials have announced the first division of a West German army of 500,000 will be ready for action in 18 months, but that more than two years will be required to recruit, arm and train the entire force.

Much of the necessary legislation had been passed by the West German parliament before France completed ratification of the arms agreement. The Paris agreement authorizes 12 German divisions, which is regarded as the largest possible force West Germany can muster and equip in the next five years.

Chancellor Adenauer is described in one dispatch from Germany as still hopeful that Russia will agree to German reunification, but there is not the remotest possibility of this except on terms that would place all of Germany under Russia's heel.

Soviet-controlled East Germany now has 120,000 men under arms, and military experts say this force could not be expanded greatly. There are only 18 million people in East Germany, where there are serious food shortages which have undermined the health of the people, making it difficult to find men fit for military service.

With a population of 49 million well fed and healthy people in West Germany, there is a corresponding number of men available for service. When West Germany is armed and able to defend its own territory, danger of Russian invasion will be greatly lessened. The over-all picture in Europe is brighter.

INTO THE FIRE

AMERICANS in Europe who for one reason or another defeat to the East are to be pitied on several scores. Information pieced together by Allied intelligence sources shows that these people, who have fled in many cases to escape some mental or emotional problem, are subjected to anything but pleasant treatment by their communist hosts.

As main "reception center" the communists have set up a detention camp deep in East Germany in which Americans and other Westerners are brainwashed in earnest. If the defectors object to this treatment they find themselves tabbed as spies and put away in Siberia for a long stretch. If they go along with the reorientation, the communists pump them full of propaganda and put them on exhibit to win more converts from the non-communists behind the iron curtain.

The defectors can always decide to return to the West and face the music awaiting them there, but not without risking life and limb in making good an escape through the equivalent of enemy territory.

As more news filters back on what happens to those who jump the border into Eastern Europe, the Western defection rate—never high—can be expected to drop sharply.

These Days

Vice Admiral Wilson Brown had the extraordinary experience of serving as the Naval Aide to four Presidents, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt, and for a short time, Truman. Few men have had the opportunity of being so constantly with so many Presidents of the United States.

In his memoirs which I read in the magazines, "American Heritage," he recounts this experience with President Truman:

"During the wakeful hours of the night before I had asked myself what was the most important problem of the war situation that I should bring to President Truman's attention while I still had the chance. I decided that the increasing Russian arrogance since Yalta was most important. Circumstances gave me a good opening, for I had the report of Lend-Lease that came to my desk each month for delivery to the President. And so when Leahy had finished his brief summing up of problems before the Joint Staff, I told President Truman about Stalin's bitter messages accusing us of bad faith in negotiations for the surrender of Austrian troops and of President Roosevelt's angry reply.

"I mentioned also Roosevelt's growing concern for the increasing number of reports of Russian misdeeds. I handed Mr. Truman an inventory of Lend-Lease supplies then en route to Russia—a perfectly amazing list of shiploads of locomotives, railroad cars, miles of track, trucks, artillery, gasoline, food—and stated that the Russian people were not being told where those vast stores came from, and that the Russian government never even said 'thank you' to us. I urged the President to take the list home and study it carefully at his leisure. 'Thank you, I will,' he said, and I felt confident that he would not forget the matter in the flurry of his first day of office."

It is a small episode but it opens the door to broad speculation as to what might have developed in American-Russian relations had Roosevelt lived out his fourth term. We have here authentic, internal evidence that Roosevelt was growing concerned over "the increasing number of reports of Russian misdeeds." This was after Yalta where Roosevelt gave Stalin more land and souls than Satin asked for. It was Roosevelt who suggested the restoration of Russia's "rights" in Manchuria, which effectively made it possible for Russia to conquer China and set up a Chinese Communist government in that country.

Roosevelt, we know, was not moving in the dark. He had conceived "The Grand Design," the assumption that American generosity would convince Stalin that this country had no imperialistic intentions, that we sought only to give but not take.

Nobody has yet reported what Stalin thought of it all. In terms of Marxian dialectical materialism, he must have believed us to be stupid, because no nation could succeed in the struggle for existence which gave away its strength and potentials to its enemies. And Stalin knew who the next enemy of the United States would be because Lenin had announced it many years before.

Roosevelt's disappointment must have been unendurable. He had staked the fate of his nation on the correctness of his appraisal of Stalin's character. He had given to Russia—that is, to Stalin—$11,000,000,000 of America's wealth to win the Communist leader over to Roosevelt's conception of the future, embodied perhaps in the Atlantic Charter.

SYNOPSIS
Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Felham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, and aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of "Midnight Mike," himself. Jim hides out in a cheap local hotel that night and when next morning his silver flask is found by the body of the murdered man, Andrus is again wanted by the police. But Jim's loyal friend, Susan Dwight, helps him evade the law. Susan never had believed Andrus guilty of killing little Roger and she is sure that his grieving, half-sister, Regina Felham, still loves this man!

CHAPTER TEN

SUSAN DWIGHT was aware of what she was doing, and frightened at it, she kept her foot down hard on the accelerator. The car, Barry Lofting's car, leaped ahead. Neppan avenue along which they were flying north was almost empty for four or five blocks but there were more lights and more cars up at the junction at Ellwell. If she could reach the stream of traffic there, lose herself in it . . . She cut in front of a truck, zoomed past a string of cars with inches to spare. She couldn't keep this up for long . . .

Behind them the siren continued to rise and fall. Twisted around on the seat beside her Andrus looked through the rear window. He couldn't see the police car but it was at their heels and coming on fast. He said, "You'd better let me out, and get away yourself."

She didn't answer. Her attention was on her driving. She had no time for anything else. She had lived in Yonkers until she was 18 and knew it well—but so did Sgt. Dupasse.

A plan was beginning to form in her mind. The police were closer, perhaps a big one and a half behind, cars were moving over; at the next intersection she swung the wheel, all but took the bumper from another car, shot right, then left, then right again. The dark narrow streets of the main stem were uncrowded. She went south three blocks doubling on the trail then turned west.

Now to cross the avenue. Caution here, haste would be fatal. She listened. The siren was up ahead. She slid suddenly across the tracks and on in the direction of the river. Broader, tree-lined streets, quiet houses; 10 minutes later she turned into a curving road above the Hudson, ran along a couple of hundred yards, slowed, and turned into a cement driveway that led to a garage.

The garage door was up. Susan ran the car into the garage, killed the engine, jumped out, went back and pulled the lever. The door fell snugly into place.

Andrus stepped over the cement floor and walked over to her. She was peering through the small windows. It was very dark in the garage. He had only a glimpse of her intent face. He said, "Where are we, whose garage is this?" She said, "Wait a minute, I want to see if we were followed." Twice cars went peacefully past but there was no alarm, no siren, no police pulling up and tumbling out.

"Got any cigarettes?" Andrus asked.

asked, leaning against the closed doors and ironically aping her mood of detachment. She tossed him a pack. At the end of a couple of minutes she turned with a little sigh. But there was no softness in her voice when she said, "Did you kill Michael Brodsky?"

"I did not," Andrus spoke quietly. Susan nodded. "I didn't think so." She told him what had happened. The taxi man who had driven to his hotel on the first day of his futile search for Brodsky had called Dupasse at the house. "I followed Dupasse down to the hotel, and saw you dash out." She explained about the medical examiner, Dr. Parr, and Dupasse, how Doctor Parr's interest in the dead man had aroused Dupasse's suspicion. "I'm responsible for getting you into this fix, I don't like that. What are you going to do?"

Andrus shrugged. "I don't know what I can do. The moment I show myself in these clothes, with this face, I'll be picked up."

She considered that. "Well, let's get out of here. Friends of mine, the Gibbys, own this house. Sarg Gibbey's in the hospital, and his wife Rosetta is with him, or ought to be, but I'd better have a look. I know where the key is. Stay here till I come back."

Three minutes later, by way of a short inside stairs, Andrus was in the kitchen at the back of the pretty little house, with the doors and the shades drawn, wolfing cheese and crackers and drinking a glass of milk. Susan Dwight had gone upstairs. She rejoined him, carrying a big pasteboard box that exuded an odor of DDT. "Clothes," she said. "Sard's," and looked at the clock. "There's plenty of time. Visiting hours are until 9 and Sunday night and Rosetta will stay until the last."

Andrus was astonished at her coolness. He surveyed her. "You're going to get into trouble over this. Have you thought about that?"

"I don't see why," Susan said, biting into one of Andrus's saltines. "We were too far away for the police to see the license number of Barry's car, and there are thousands exactly like it on the roads. Mass production comes into its own. Dupasse gave chase because you weren't anywhere on that block and he saw our tail lights moving off. I could say you coerced me, I suppose, but I'd rather not, if it can be helped. I don't want anyone at the house to know about it, that I went anywhere near that hotel . . . Tell me about last night."

Andrus did, succinctly, up to and including his discovery of the silver of glass buried in the cloth of his coat late that afternoon.

Susan stared at him. "The man who killed Brodsky was there in the darkness below the cliff, actually there, and he tried to kill you?"

"That's right," Andrus told her what he had done with the silver of glass, and at her puzzled look, "I put it there because it will prove that I found the splinter embedded in my coat while I was in that hotel room."

"How do you propose to have it found, and by whom?"

"That can be taken care of later. Just now I want to remain loose. I have things to do."

"What things?"

He didn't want another death on his conscience, but a killer had to be found.

DIET AND HEALTH

Vitamin C For Baby

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST babies like orange juice and will drink it readily.

Orange juice, as I told you yesterday, contains vitamin C, an important part of a baby's diet. Frozen or Canned

You can give your baby frozen or canned juice or juice from fresh oranges. Frozen or canned juice should be mixed with water which has first been boiled and then allowed to cool.

If you use fresh oranges, sweet oranges are probably best. If you can't get sweet oranges, you might add just enough sugar to sweeten the juice.

Before Cutting Orange
Before cutting the orange, dip it and the knife you use briefly into boiling water. Be sure you wipe them with a clean cloth. This will help get rid of any dirt and germs which may be on them.

Some doctors advise straining the juice. You'll have to do this if you give the baby his juice from a bottle. Pour the juice through a fine 36-mesh strainer.

When to Give It
I think you will find it best to give your tot his orange juice right after he gets his cod-liver oil. That would be about 9 a.m., or an hour before his 10 o'clock feeding.

The baby will probably take his orange juice from a spoon. I told you how much to give him yesterday, remember? However, if he refuses to take it this way, try giving it to him in a bottle.

A Few Tips

Here are a couple of tips about this:

When he first begins taking orange juice and only a few teaspoonsful are needed, dilute the juice with an equal amount of lukewarm water. The water, of course, must be either specially prepared baby water or boiled water. By diluting it in this way, you make sure the baby gets all his juice. You can stop diluting it by the time he is getting more than four teaspoonsful.

One more thing to remember: Don't mix the juice with water that is too hot. Heat destroys many of the vitamins in the juice. By the time your baby is six months old, he'll probably drink his juice from a cup.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
J. C.: I am a sufferer from motion or car sickness. Could you advise the name of a drug for relief of this ailment?

Answer: The absence of fresh air is a factor in car or motion sickness. Constipation may produce the condition, in some cases. Anyone who has migraines headaches is also prone to this type of disturbance.

Some of the antihistamine drugs have definite value in this disorder.

Achievement Meet Plans Completed

The final County Home Demonstration Council for the current project year was held Tuesday in the Farm Bureau Home, with the president, Mrs. Leslie Dearth, in charge of the meeting.

"Pennies for Friendship" were turned in by the group councilors. The county World Friendship chairman, Mrs. Robert Bower, gave a report of possible and completed projects to strengthen the friendship chain.

Mrs. Don Roush, chairman for an annual Home Demonstration achievement meeting to be held April 29 from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. in St. Philip's Episcopal parish hall, gave a report on the group cooperative plans for this event as arranged by her committee.

Mrs. Dearth distributed the ballots for election of officers for 1955-56. The results as tabulated by Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson were: Mrs. Roush of Darby Township, president; Mrs. Noble Barr of Circleville Township, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Dennis of Monroe Township, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Wright of Deer Creek Township, treasurer.

The projects for the next activity year were listed by Mrs. Leora Sayre, county Home Demonstration agent. These projects were reported to Ohio State University extension supervisors and specialists following a program planning session.

The 1955-56 club year activities are to include:

Buying and Selecting Nutrition, Buffet Meals, Textile Painting, Hooked Rugs, Cotton Dress Workshop, and Personal Grooming.

Those present were: Mrs. Earl Armentrout, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Joseph Goeller, Mrs. Russell Yapp, Mrs. Lewis Dean, Mrs. Noah List, Mrs. Loring Storer, Mrs. William Defenbaugh, Mrs. Robert Newton, Mrs. Roy Teegardin, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Dearth, Mrs. Roush, Mrs. Sayre, and Mrs. Barr.

Miss Circleville Of 1955 Is Bride In Indiana Rites

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson of 319 E. Corwin St. are announcing the marriage of their daughter, June Ellen Wilkinson, to Jerry Cassill, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cassill of Circleville Route 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis of Circleville Route 2, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, attended the couple at the rites, which were read in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The bride chose for her wedding a costume in Navy blue, accented with a corsage of white carnations. The new Mrs. Cassill is a student in Circleville High School. She was crowned "Miss Circleville of 1955" during the Pumpkin Show last October.

Mr. Cassill also is a student in Circleville High School and is employed as a service station attendant.

The couple is residing with the parents of the groom on Circleville Route 3 for the present.

Pathfinder Class Conducts Annual Easter Party

The Dorcas Pathfinder Class of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church held an annual Easter Party Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Edward McCann of 324 S. Washington St.

The modeling of handmade Easter hats was highlight of the session. Miss Mary Harpster was awarded the title for the prettiest bonnet and Mrs. Alonzo Hill was declared to be modeling the funniest creation. Both winners were guests at the session.

Following a short business session conducted by Mrs. Grace Swank, class president, Mrs. Lawrence Warner offered a series of games and contests.

Mrs. Mark Delong, Mrs. Tena Agin, Mrs. Minerva Frazier and Mrs. Bertha Bozman were contest winners.

A total of 18 members and ten visitors were present for the event, which closed with refreshments, served on individual trays by the hostess.

Guests were: Mrs. James Reeb, wife of the church pastor, Miss Harpster, Mrs. Ethel Brilinger, Mrs. Louella Reichelderfer, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Bozman, Mrs. Clark Zwyer, Mrs. Hazel Easter, Mrs. Mildred Turner and Teddie Stewart.

Union Veterans Daughters To Have Official Visitor

Mrs. Anna Edwards of Columbus, past departmental president, is to be guest of the local tent of the Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War.

Announcement of the official visit of Mrs. Edwards on May 3 was made during a regular meeting of the patriotic group held Tuesday evening in the Post Room of Memorial Hall.

In the absence of the tent president, Mrs. Clara Delong, who still remains hospitalized, Mrs. James Trimmer conducted the session.

The tent charter was draped in memory of Mrs. C. A. Leist and Mrs. Irene B. Newton, both members of the local tent. During a business session, the members voted to contribute to the Red Cross drive.

Mrs. C. O. Kerns, tent patriotic instructor, presented program for the evening, which opened with a reading "A Good and Perfect Gift" by Mrs. James Trimmer.

Mrs. Kerns read the poem, "In Flanders Field", followed by "The Charge of the Light Brigade" by Mrs. B. M. Wignell. Mrs. W. E. Pickens offered "The Men Behind

Achievement Meet Plans Completed

The final County Home Demonstration Council for the current project year was held Tuesday in the Farm Bureau Home, with the president, Mrs. Leslie Dearth, in charge of the meeting.

"Pennies for Friendship" were turned in by the group councilors. The county World Friendship chairman, Mrs. Robert Bower, gave a report of possible and completed projects to strengthen the friendship chain.

Mrs. Don Roush, chairman for an annual Home Demonstration achievement meeting to be held April 29 from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. in St. Philip's Episcopal parish hall, gave a report on the group cooperative plans for this event as arranged by her committee.

Mrs. Dearth distributed the ballots for election of officers for 1953-54. The results as tabulated by Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. J. B. Stevenson were: Mrs. Roush of Darby Township, president; Mrs. Noble Barr of Circleville Township, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Dennis of Monroe Township, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Wright of Deer Creek Township, treasurer.

The projects for the next activity year were listed by Mrs. Leora Sayre, county Home Demonstration agent. These projects were reported to Ohio State University extension supervisors and specialists following a program planning session.

The 1953-54 club year activities are to include:

- Buying and Selecting Nutrition, Buffet Meals, Textile Painting, Hooked Rugs, Cotton Dress Workshop, and Personal Grooming.

Those present were: Mrs. Earl Armentrout, Mrs. John West, Mrs. Joseph Goeller, Mrs. Russell Yapp, Mrs. Lewis Dean, Mrs. Noah List, Mrs. Loring Stoe, Mrs. William Defenbaugh, Mrs. Robert Newton, Mrs. Roy Tegard, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Dearth, Mrs. Roush, Mrs. Sayre, and Mrs. Barr.

Girl Scout Troop Attends Ice Show As Spring Outing

An unusual outing was enjoyed by Girl Scout Troop 21 when the troop motored to Marion to see an ice show presented there.

The special trip was made possible by funds raised by the troop. Scouts attending were: Judy Calhoun, Paula Denham, Barbara Bell, Pamela Grant, Marilyn Hartman, Linda Leist, Diane McBrearty, Cathy Schaub, Patricia Schroeder, Sue Stevens, Barbara Star-

Miss Circleville Of 1955 Is Bride In Indiana Rites

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson of 319 E. Corwin St. are announcing the marriage of their daughter, June Ellen Wilkinson, to Jerry Cassill, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cassill of Circleville Route 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis of Circleville Route 2, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, attended the couple at the rites, which were read in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

The bride chose for her wedding a costume in Navy blue, accented with a corsage of white carnations.

The new Mrs. Cassill is a student in Circleville High School. She was crowned "Miss Circleville of 1955" during the Pumpkin Show last October.

Mr. Cassill also is a student in Circleville High School and is employed as a service station attendant.

The couple is residing with the parents of the groom on Circleville Route 3 for the present.

The Past Presidents Club of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will be guests of Mrs. Cora Coffland of 119 1-2 E. Main St. for a regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Clark of Shreveport, La. left Circleville Wednesday for their home following a visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bales of 207 E. Main St.

An April meeting of the Circleville Garden club has been postponed until April 14. The session will be held at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Orion King of 148 W. High St.

Pathfinder Class Conducts Annual Easter Party

The Dorcas Pathfinder Class of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church held an annual Easter Party Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Edward McCann of 324 S. Washington St.

The modeling of handmade Easter hats was highlight of the session. Miss Mary Harpster was awarded the title for the prettiest bonnet and Mrs. Alonzo Hill was declared to be modeling the funniest creation. Both winners were guests at the session.

Following a short business session conducted by Mrs. Grace Swank, class president, Mrs. Lawrence Warner offered a series of games and contests.

Mrs. Mark DeLong, Mrs. Tena Agin, Mrs. Minerva Frazier and Mrs. Bertha Bozman were contest winners.

A total of 18 members and ten visitors were present for the event, which closed with refreshments, served on individual trays by the hostess.

Guests were: Mrs. James Reeb, wife of the church pastor, Miss Harpster, Mrs. Ethel Britlinger, Mrs. Louella Reichelderfer, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Bozman, Mrs. Clark Zwayner, Mrs. Hazel Easter, Mrs. Mildred Turner and Teddie Stewart.

Union Veterans Daughters To Have Official Visitor

Mrs. Anna Edwards of Columbus, past departmental president, is to be guest of the local tent of the Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War.

Announcement of the official visit of Mrs. Edwards on May 3 was made during a regular meeting of the patriotic group held Tuesday evening in the Post Room of Memorial Hall.

In the absence of the tent president, Mrs. Clara DeLong, who still remains hospitalized, Mrs. James Trimmer conducted the session.

The tent charter was draped in memory of Mrs. C. A. Leist and Mrs. Irene B. Newton, both members of the local tent. During a business session, the members voted to contribute to the Red Cross drive.

Mrs. C. O. Kerns, tent patriotic instructor, presented program for the evening, which opened with a reading "A Good and Perfect Gift" by Mrs. James Trimmer.

Mrs. Kerns read the poem, "In Flanders Field", followed by "The Charge of the Light Brigade" by Mrs. B. M. Wignell. Mrs. W. E. Pickens offered "The Men Behind the Guns", followed by "The Unknown Soldier", by Mrs. Frank Webbe.

Following a reading of "The Appomattox Courthouse" by Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, the program closed with "The Crowned Christ", presented by Mrs. Trimmer.

All members are urged to attend the next session of the group, which is to be held May 3 in the Memorial Hall.

Hal Boyle Says:

Cancer Exam—No Ordeal

NEW YORK (AP)—I felt a little silly, standing there with nothing on but my socks and shoes and a flappy hospital gown.

I was nervous, too. So were the six other white-gowned men in the small room. We were in the New York University-Bellevue Hospital cancer detection center, waiting to be examined.

The center, one of some 250 in the nation, is part of a medical mass assembly line technique to fight cancer. It helps detect in its early stages this disease which caused one needless death every seven minutes in America last year among victims who hadn't been diagnosed or treated in time.

The seven men looked warily at each other. Each was probably thinking the same thoughts:

"Wonder if he's got it? Him? I don't even know him. What if I've got it?"

One man pulled out a pack of cigarettes, held it up silently. Several men took a cigarette, lit up gratefully. The tension lightened.

"I hear that—" began one. Then the door opened, a nurse entered, handed me a folder with my name on it, and said, "follow me."

I felt the eyes of the other men on me as I left. I reached back and closed the back vent on my hospital gown. Why don't they put buttons on them?

"What do—?"

"Just come along," said the nurse. "It'll be over before you know it."

Well, it wasn't. But it doesn't take long for a cancer check. About two hours from the time you take off your necktie until you walk out.

One technician stuck a needle in my finger and took some blood samples. Five minutes later I was standing in front of a big machine getting a chest X-ray.

Then followed a thorough general physical examination. The doctor methodically poked and prodded me externally, from toe to scalp, took my blood pressure, listened to my heart, asked me about every ailment I'd ever known. And he wrote it all down in my folder.

Next came the inside experts. One specialist did everything but climb bodily into my eyes, ears, nose and throat.

"You're smoking too many cigars," he said. "Cut down on 'em or give 'em up."

Then I had a face down consultation with the final specialist, the one who in most hospitals is known as "the rear admiral." His examination was admirably painstaking.

After dressing, I then was led into the office of Dr. David H. Goldstein, the director. He is the man who reviews the evidence and delivers the verdict.

I looked at him tensely as he carefully read my folder. He glanced up and smiled.

"You're relatively innocent, speaking only medically," he said, and added there was nothing wrong with me that living a more sensible life wouldn't fix.

I told him that I had undergone the test only as a reporter's assignment, and had no reason to think I had cancer.

"Most people who take the examination don't think they have cancer," he replied. "But in 1 out of about 200 cases we do find cancer."

I asked him whether such a small percentage of discovery really justified such a large medical setup.

"Would you think it did if you were that 1 person out of 200?" he asked, quietly. "Actually, we detect a lot of things besides cancer. In about 30 per cent of the cases we find a disability the patient was unaware of. They range from defects such as hernia and flat-feet to serious heart and gall bladder ailments."

As I left, I went by the six other men whom I'd been with at the start of the examination. They looked at me in wordless worry. Their verdict was yet to come.

"I passed," I told them. Suddenly I felt as if I were walking on clouds. A wonderful throbbing joy at being alive swept me. It was as if a fearful hawk of danger had cast a shadow on me, and then flown by.

Whoever it might strike down, it wouldn't be me. Not this year anyway.

And it was a feeling worth having.

Sokolsky's

He must have suspected or even known before his death, if we are to take the hint from Admiral Wilson Brown, that he was dealing with a bandit and a blackmailer who would demand and demand and demand and give nothing.

The tragedy for Roosevelt must have been that he knew that he was dying and that he could do nothing to undo the evils of Teheran and Yalta.

But this is not understandable; Why did he not call in Harry Truman, his inevitable successor, to tell him what he had in his thoughts? It will be recalled that when Truman took over, it was in an atmosphere of uncertainty and confusion. Truman had not been kept in touch with the situation. He played no such role as Richard Nixon does in the Eisenhower Administration.

Roosevelt must have known that Harry Truman could not be ready for transactions with Stalin. Nevertheless, Roosevelt took not one step to prepare his successor for the San Francisco or Potsdam Conferences. It is perhaps a problem in psychology rather than politics.

Yeggs Work Hard
On Empty Safes

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Thieves apparently worked half the night with drill and chisel in an unsuccessful attempt to open two safes at a hardware wholesale house.

Officials of R. D. McKee, Inc., said the thieves would have been wasting their time even if they'd been successful.

The safes weren't locked in the first place—apparently the safe-crackers looked them in trying to get them open.

Besides, there was no money in them.

Lausche Asks
Strip Mine
Bill Backing

COLUMBUS (AP)—In a letter to 31 representatives from counties in the coal strip mining area, Gov. Frank J. Lausche has called for support of an administration-backed bill to tighten mine controls.

The letter to both Democrats and Republicans called attention to the features of the bill on which the House Conservation Committee begins hearings this week.

Another letter to state representatives urged against enactment of a proposal to allow persons allegedly wronged by the state to sue for damages.

The plea went to Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee that has the proposal under study.

"In my judgment," the governor said, "the granting of that right would have the state in a position where actions would be brought against it in the 88 counties of the state for damages growing out of every conceivable type of claim, and would require an army of lawyers for the state to protect itself."

The sundry claims board now considers claims against the state by allegedly wronged persons.

Vote For Youths Under 21
Slow In Getting Approval

CHICAGO (AP)—Thousands of the nation's youths under 21 are in military service but legislation to permit them the right to vote appears gaining little headway.

Only one state, Georgia, gives them voting privileges.

Moves have been made in several other states, an Associated Press survey showed, to get similar legislation passed since the military draft age was lowered to 18. In most states the proposed constitutional amendments were to lower the age to 18. Some recommended 19.

Bills have been sponsored in at least 20 states before legislative bodies this year. But in only one state—Delaware—is there indication of passage.

President Eisenhower, in his 1954 State of the Union message, proposed the Constitution be amended to give 18-year-olds the vote. The Constitution specifies no age qualifications for voters, leaving this to the states.

In Indiana, a state constitutional amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 19 was approved by the 1953 Legislature but failed at this year's session. State amendments must pass two successive legislatures and then get approval at a referendum.

Idaho defeated a proposed amendment allowing 19-year-olds to vote.

Chances appear good for the Delaware Legislature to approve the measure for 18-year-olds. It has been passed by the Senate and awaits House action. However, it also must get approval of the 1957 General Assembly to become law.

The vote bill has been offered in previous legislative sessions in Colorado, Florida, Michigan, Montana, Oregon and South Carolina. In some states the proposals never got out of committee.

In Nevada, Republican Gov. Milward L. Simpson asked for a constitutional amendment on the vote for 18-year-olds but the Senate rejected his proposal.

Last Friday the Maine Legislature killed a similar constitutional amendment resolve.

Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas has asked the Legislature to lower the voting age to 18 in the Democratic primaries but there has been no legislative action.

The Tennessee House approved a similar proposal but it was killed in the Senate.

The Iowa House has passed the vote bill. The Utah House also gave approval but the measure died in the Senate. The Illinois House is considering the proposal.

The survey also showed that in another phase of legislative proposals, there appeared little progress in most states in changing dates of primary elections.

Bills have been introduced in at least 15 legislatures. The New York Legislature has approved a bill setting a single primary date on June 5, 1956, instead of the two primaries customary in a presidential election year—one in the spring for convention delegates and local party committeemen, and the other in the fall for local office and the legislature.

Gov. Averell Harriman has not yet signed the measure.

Salt Lake Valley
Altered By Noise

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The sky over the Salt Lake Valley was alive with sound last night, and the noise prompted hundreds of residents to call newspapers and police in alarm.

Most said it sounded like airplanes overhead. Others thought it was blasting, and one said it was like "a locomotive running behind my house."

But the weird noise in the sky was caused by compressed air being used to clean out steam and water lines and test boiler safety valves at the Gadsby steam plant of the Utah Power and Light Co. The sound bounced off the mountains to the east and made it difficult to locate its source.

Then followed a thorough general physical examination. The doctor methodically poked and prodded me externally, from toe to scalp, took my blood pressure, listened to my heart, asked me about every ailment I'd ever known. And he wrote it all down in my folder.

Next came the inside experts. One specialist did everything but climb bodily into my eyes, ears, nose and throat.

"You're smoking too many cigars," he said. "Cut down on 'em or give 'em up."

Then I had a face down consultation with the final specialist, the one who in most hospitals is known as "the rear admiral." His examination was admirably painstaking.

After dressing, I then was led

Vote For Youths Under 21 Slow In Getting Approval

CHICAGO (AP)—Thousands of the nation's youths under 21 are in military service but legislation to permit them the right to vote appears gaining little headway.

Only one state, Georgia, gives them voting privileges.

Moves have been made in several other states, an Associated Press survey showed, to get similar legislation passed since the military draft age was lowered to 18. In most states the proposed constitutional amendments were to lower the age to 18. Some recommended 19.

Bills have been sponsored in at least 20 states before legislative bodies this year. But in only one state—Delaware—is there indication of passage.

President Eisenhower, in his 1954 State of the Union message, proposed the Constitution be amended to give 18-year-olds the vote. The Constitution specifies no age qualifications for voters, leaving this to the states.

In Indiana, a state constitutional amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 19 was approved by the 1953 Legislature but failed at this year's session. State amendments must pass two successive legislatures and then get approval at a referendum.

Salt Lake Valley Altered By Noise

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The sky over the Salt Lake Valley was alive with sound last night, and the noise prompted hundreds of residents to call newspapers and police in alarm.

Most said it sounded like airplanes overhead. Others thought it was blasting, and one said it was like "a locomotive running behind my house."

But the weird noise in the sky was caused by compressed air being used to clean out steam and water lines and test boiler safety valves at the Gadsby steam plant of the Utah Power and Light Co. The sound bounced off the mountains to the east and made it difficult to locate its source.

into the office of Dr. David H. Goldstein, the director. He is the man who reviews the evidence and delivers the verdict.

I looked at him tensely as he carefully read my folder. He glanced up and smiled.

"You're relatively innocent, speaking only medically," he said, and added there was nothing wrong with me that living a more sensible life wouldn't fix.

I told him that I had undergone the test only as a reportorial assignment, and had no reason to think I had cancer.

"Most people who take the examination don't think they have cancer," he replied. "But in 1 out of about 200 cases we do find cancer."

I asked him whether such a small percentage of discovery really justified such a large medical setup.

"Would you think it did if you were that 1 person out of 200?" he asked, quietly. "Actually, we detect a lot of things besides cancer. In about 30 per cent of the cases we find a disability the patient was unaware of. They range from defects such as hernia and flat-feet to serious heart and gall bladder ailments."

As I left, I went by the six other men whom I'd been with at the start of the examination. They looked at me in wordless worry. Their verdict was yet to come.

"I passed," I told them.

Suddenly I felt as if I were walking on clouds. A wonderful throbbing joy at being alive swept me. It was as if a fearful hawk of danger had cast a shadow on me, and then flown by.

Whoever it might strike down, it wouldn't be me. Not this year anyway.

And it was a feeling worth having.

Yeggs Work Hard On Empty Safes

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Thieves apparently worked half the night with drill and chisel in an unsuccessful attempt to open two safes at a hardware wholesale house.

Officials of R. D. McKee, Inc., said the thieves would have been wasting their time even if they'd been successful.

The safes weren't locked in the first place—apparently the safe-crackers locked them in trying to get them open.

Besides, there was no money in them.

Sokolsky's These Days

He must have suspected or even known before his death, if we are to take the hint from Admiral Wilson Brown, that he was dealing with a bandit and a blackmailer who would demand and demand and demand and give nothing.

The tragedy for Roosevelt must have been that he knew that he was dying and that he could do nothing to undo the evils of Tehran and Yalta.

But this is not understandable: Why did he not call in Harry Truman, his inevitable successor, to tell him what he had in his thoughts? It will be recalled that when Truman took over, it was in an atmosphere of uncertainty and confusion. Truman had not been kept in touch with the situation. He played no such role as Richard Nixon does in the Eisenhower Administration.

Roosevelt must have known that Harry Truman could not be ready for transactions with Stalin. Nevertheless, Roosevelt took not one step to prepare his successor for the San Francisco or Potsdam Conferences. It is perhaps a problem in psychology rather than politics.

Lausche Asks Strip Mine Bill Backing

COLUMBUS (AP)—In a letter to 31 representatives from counties in the coal strip mining area, Gov. Frank J. Lausche has called for support of an administration-backed bill to tighten mine controls.

The letter to both Democrats and Republicans called attention to the features of the bill on which the House Conservation Committee begins hearings this week.

Another letter to state representatives urged enactment of a proposal to allow persons allegedly wronged by the state to sue for damages.

The plea went to Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee that has the proposal under study.

"In my judgment," the governor said, "the granting of that right would have the state in a position where actions would be brought against it in the 88 counties of

Churchill's Past Described With Glowing Terms

'Winnie' Retiring After Memorable Years Of Service

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill remains a knight with a mission. The old warrior bowing out of the prime ministry is lured by his Holy Grail, the hope he can yet help attain world peace. At 80, he wants to "bring nearer that lasting peace settlement which the masses of the people of every race and in every land fervently desire."

He first entered Parliament 55 years ago. Almost nine years of service through two terms as Britain's first minister are behind him. War and cold war have been his lot under two sovereigns, George VI and Elizabeth II.

He took the helm in Britain's darkest hour and steered a course through "blood, toil, tears and sweat" to victory over Nazi Germany. Then, in his second term, he started Britain on the road back from socialism and swelled her voice in world council.

He retired from Downing Street with probably more of the world's laurels than any other man alive.

Age has slowed Churchill. Sometimes his memory plays tricks with him. For a time he was paralyzed by a stroke; he has met frustrations and even humiliations. But none of these has dimmed his zeal to crown with peace a career made heroic largely through war.

The very existence of the British commonwealth was threatened when he assumed the prime ministry May 10, 1940.

Britain stood virtually alone then against Hitler's legions. By his finely tuned oratory and his indomitable will, he rallied ill-prepared forces in a fight for survival. He became a moving spirit in the Allied master strategy which finally crushed the Axis.

Voters weary of war threw out Churchill's Conservative government in July 1945. Clement R. Attlee's socialistic Labor party assumed control. Churchill became leader of His Majesty's loyal opposition in the House of Commons.

But six years of socialism satiated many British voters. The wheel turned again in October 1951. Churchill pledged in the campaign to cut back the Labor program for the nationalization of industry. He cast off Laborite charges that he was a warmonger. He vowed to fight for peace. And he led the Conservatives to victory.

Cheering Britons almost mobbed him. Nearly 77, he swung a gold-headed cane, smoked a big cigar and held two fingers high in his victory sign.

Problems tumbled upon Churchill: the old rift between East and West; warfare in Korea, Indochina, Malaya; the Formosa issue; inroads upon British holdings in Iran, Egypt and other far places; a creaky economy at home.

He solved some. He kept digging at others. But the load was heavy. The administrative routine was too much.

Only two older Englishmen hung on as prime ministers—both before the turn of the 20th century, when the job was vastly simpler. Lord Palmerston at 81 died in office in 1865. William Ewart Gladstone gave up in disappointment at 83—in 1882—after trusted colleagues deserted him in his campaign to keep down arms expenditures.

Churchill is primarily a foreign

First Stretch Of Turnpike Topping Revenue Estimates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toll revenues on the Eastgate Section of the Ohio Turnpike established a new monthly record during March, the Ohio Turnpike Commission reported today.

In a statement released "at its monthly meeting, the commission said toll revenues totaled $91,689 in March, well over original estimates.

Since the 22-mile eastgate section was opened to traffic Dec. 1, 1954, a total of 797,846 vehicles have used the turnpike and paid $331,678 in tolls.

The millionth vehicle will drive over that section swinging westward from the Pennsylvania border sometime this month.

Usage by trucks during March also was at a new high, said James

W. Shocknessy, commission chairman. The daily average number of trucks using the section during March was 2,807, compared with 2,682 in February, 2,444 in January and 2,305 in December.

In March, 218,083 vehicles paid tolls for using the super-highway that eventually will extend 241 miles across Northern Ohio. The entire project is to be opened to traffic in October.

Gen. Robert S. Beightler, executive director of the commission, said seven contracts on the turnpike are behind schedule. But he said they would be given special effort, and expressed confidence all would be in line by Oct. 1.

Beightler also announced appointment of Naoh Truax of Lewis town in Logan County as maintenance engineer.

Work reported behind schedule included some stretches of the road just west of Warren, near Boston Heights in Summit County, just south of Cleveland, south of Avon in Cuyahoga County, near Berlin Heights in Huron County, just east of Maumee, and near Maumee.

Chairman Shocknessy said the May meeting of the commission would be held in Strongsville so the members could see the new administration building there.

Chairman Shocknessy said the May meeting of the commission would be held in Strongsville so the members could see the new administration building there.

With the mantle of fame securely around his shoulders, Churchill is still restless as he muses, "I am now near the end of my journey." Not long ago he said plainly, "I have no intention of passing my remaining years in explaining or withdrawing anything I have said in the past, still less in apologizing for it."

Always looking ahead, he has cautioned "I consider that it will be found much better by all parties to leave the past to history." Then he added with typical impishness, "Especially as I propose to write that history myself."

Sir Winston Also Likes Sir Winston

LONDON (AP)—Thousands throughout the world like Sir Winston Churchill. The pockmarked former prime minister may well share their opinion.

As the little boy found out on visiting the Churchill family at Chartwell:

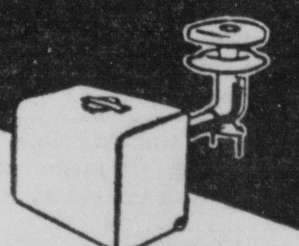

The youngster's father had impressed upon him he might be lucky to meet "the greatest man in the world."

Churchill was in his bedroom working when the guests arrived. The boy slipped away from his mother and followed a butler walking upstairs with a tea tray. On tip-toe, the child followed into the bedroom. He saw an old man in bed, propped up on pillows, studying a mass of papers.

Approaching nervously, the boy asked: "Excuse me, sir, but are you the greatest man in the whole world?"

The old man glared at him through his glasses. "Certainly I am the greatest man in the whole world," he grumbled. "And now buzz off."

Driver Training Car's Tags 'Old'

FRANKLIN (AP)—An unidentified woman telephoned Franklin High School to suggest a new subject for the school's driver-education course.

Her recommendation: "When to change license plates."

The resident had spotted the school's driver training car around this Warren County town with 1954 tags. The 1955 licenses were due April 1.

School officials took the automobile off the streets until new tags can be obtained.

Prisoner Flees Akron City Jail

AKRON (AP)—A prisoner fled city jail yesterday and won a foot race with the police prosecutor. Edward Wayne Edwards, 21, of Cuyahoga Falls, had just been bound over to the grand jury on a charge of burglary.

When a jailer opened a barred door to take another prisoner out, Edwards darted under the jailer's arm and ran from the building.

Playing Boy Killed

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chasing a ball into the street, Donald Albert Rickman, 9, of Columbus, was killed yesterday when struck by a car. The driver of the car was not held.

Sir Winston Also Likes Sir Winston

LONDON (AP)—Thousands throughout the world like Sir Winston Churchill. The pugnacious former prime minister may well share their opinion.

As the little boy found out on visiting the Churchill family at Chartwell.

The youngster's father had impressed upon him he might be lucky to meet "the greatest man in the world."

Churchill was in his bedroom working when the guests arrived. The boy slipped away from his mother and followed a butler walking upstairs with a tea tray. On tip-toe, the child followed into the bedroom. He saw an old man in bed, propped up on pillows, studying a mass of papers.

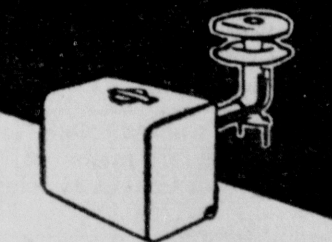

Approaching nervously, the boy asked:

"Excuse me, sir, but are you the greatest man in the whole world?"

The old man glared at him through his glasses.

"Certainly I am the greatest man in the whole world," he grumbled. "And now buzz off."

Youth Confesses Slaying Watchman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Detectives last night took a signed statement from a 20-year-old Troy Laundry & Cleaning Co. employee that he shot and killed a 65-year-old night watchman at the plant Monday.

Edward M. Piggee, 20, said he took Balcom C. Fantroy's pistol from the watchman's locker and shot him in the back three times after Fantroy had refused to lend him $5.

LOWEST-PRICE CAR

IN "ALL 3" TO GIVE YOU ALL THIS IS PLYMOUTH!

TOP SIX

The thriftiest, smoothest six in the low-price 3—that's Plymouth's Power-Flow 117! Its high compression ratio, combined with exclusive Chrome-Sealed Action, gives you more power from less gas, and velvet-smooth performance. You'll enjoy lightning acceleration, thanks to a special metering system in the carburetor. And the PowerFlow thrives on regular, not premium grade, fuel.

TOP SIZE

The biggest, longest, roomiest car of the low-price 3—that's Plymouth! Brilliant new Forward Look styling gives you more glamour outside, more luxury inside; plus the new Full-View windshield, swept back to give the greatest visibility in the low-price 3. And Plymouth's big size means you and your passengers will enjoy the smooth, steady ride that only a truly big car can give you.

TOP VALUE

Plymouth is the only low-price car to give you at no extra cost such extra value features as: electric windshield wipers, Safety-Rim wheels and an independent parking brake for greater safety . . . Oriflow shock absorbers for a smoother ride . . . an Oilite fuel filter and oil bath air cleaner for lasting economy. See and drive a Plymouth today—see why it's your best-buy low-price car!

WHY PAY UP TO $500 MORE FOR A CAR SMALLER THAN PLYMOUTH?

Don't be fooled by the claims of so-called medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much, much less than medium-price cars, and gives you more car for your money!

BEST BUY NEW; BETTER TRADE-IN, TOO

ALL-NEW PLYMOUTH

Hayes Says Few 'Players' Appear

COLUMBUS (AP)—Woody Hayes, looking over spring football drills of his Ohio State Buckeyes, says, "We've got a lot of names out there, but not too many football players."

He seems optimistic about freshmen end prospects but uncertain about guard and tackle positions among his 100 candidates.

Today is the third day of spring workouts. Hayes is searching for material that Buckeye fans hope will match the undefeated 1954 team.

Emphasis yesterday was again on linemen. Returnees from last year's championship team include tackle Francis Machinsky, guard Jim Parker and center Ken Vargo.

The major league All-Star game will take place at Milwaukee County Stadium on July 12.

Riding Group Planning For Horse Show

Plans for the third annual Western Horse Show and Rodeo, to be held May 29 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, have been completed by the Ashville Riding Club, sponsors of the event.

The show will include 14 classes and will be judged under the rules of the Ohio Western Horse Assn. A donation will be given to the Pilot Dog Society from the proceeds.

The plans were discussed at a recent meeting of the riding group at which the guest speaker was Bill Zipl, farm editor of a Columbus newspaper. Zipl showed pictures of his recent trip to the Fort Worth, Texas Rodeo and Stock Show.

Zipl expressed amazement at the number of Ohioans who participated in the Texas show. He added that he was pleased at the interest taken by local clubs in horsemanship.

New officers for the current year are: Emerson Brown, president; Chester Ward, vice-president; Mary Grace Klamforth, secretary-treasurer; Mary S. Costlow, assistant secretary-treasurer; and Eleanor Patrick, news reporter.

Seven members of the Milwaukee Braves were born in February.

Legal Notice

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of County Commissioners of Pickaway County, Ohio in the City of Circleville until 12:00 o'clock Noon E.S.T. on Monday May 9, 1955 and at 1:30 P. M. the same day will be publicly opened and read for the Lighting of the Racks in the Stock Room of Pickaway County District Public Library at Memorial Hall in the City of Circleville, Ohio.

The successful bidder shall furnish all labor, material, and equipment necessary to complete the work. All work done and the materials furnished shall comply with the Specification set up for this contract and as approved by the Board of County Commissioners.

Hayes Says Few 'Players' Appear

COLUMBUS (AP)—Woody Hayes, looking over spring football drills of his Ohio State Buckeyes, says, "We've got a lot of names out there, but not too many football players."

He seems optimistic about freshmen end prospects but uncertain about guard and tackle positions among his 100 candidates.

Today is the third day of spring workouts. Hayes is searching for material that Buckeye fans hope will match the undefeated 1954 team.

Emphasis yesterday was again on linemen. Returnees from last year's championship team include tackle Francis Machinsky, guard Jim Parker and center Ken Vargo.

The major league All-Star game will take place at Milwaukee County Stadium on July 12.

Riding Group Planning For Horse Show

Plans for the third annual Western Horse Show and Rodeo, to be held May 29 at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, have been completed by the Ashville Riding Club, sponsors of the event.

The show will include 14 classes and will be judged under the rules of the Ohio Western Horse Assn. A donation will be given to the Pilot Dog Society from the proceeds.

The plans were discussed at a recent meeting of the riding group at which the guest speaker was Bill Zipf, farm editor of a Columbus newspaper. Zipf showed pictures of his recent trip to the Fort Worth, Texas Rodeo and Stock Show.

Zipf expressed amazement at the number of Ohioans who participated in the Texas show. He added that he was pleased at the interest taken by local clubs in horsemanship.

New officers for the current year are: Emerson Brown, president; Chester Ward, vice-president; Mary Grace Klamforth, secretary-treasurer; Mary S. Costlow, assistant secretary-treasurer; and Eleanor Patrick, news reporter.

Seven members of the Milwaukee Braves were born in February.

Legal Notice

Indian-Giant Spring Series Tied 8-All

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Tied row at 8-game all, the Cleveland Indians-New York Giants spring exhibition series will be decided here today and in the finale at Knoxville tomorrow.

With three regulars missing from the lineup—outfielders Ralph Kiner and Al Smith and third baseman Al Rosen—the Tribe lost a four-run, ninth-inning Giant rally at Columbus, Ga., yesterday, 5-1.

Sal Maglie went all the way to win, yielding eight hits. Bob Lemon was the first Tribe hurler in several spring training periods to go the distance, but it became a rout with Monte Irvin's three-run homer in the ninth.

Irvin's first homer was in the fifth, but the Tribe tied it in the seventh on Jim Hegan's single, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a dribbler by Larry Doby.

Bob Lemon, who hit 64 homers for Nashville last season, got one off Lemon in the ninth, immediately after Irvin's base-clearing blow, which followed singles by Al Dark and Don Mueller.

Until the ninth, Lemon had allowed only five hits, and it looked as though he was going to make his last tuneup for opening day his best effort of the training series.

Dave Philley got three of the Indians' eight singles, but tapped to the mound in the third with the bases loaded to end a rally.

Results Refused For Bowlers

Bowling leagues attention! Starting immediately, The Herald will refuse to print any bowling results which are not correctly totaled.

In addition, no results will be printed which do not come in with readable writing. Although The Herald cannot be responsible for errors, there have been too many results coming in scribbled.

League secretaries should check the copy, which is given to The Herald, for errors and legibility. Any mistakes should be corrected before the results are sent to The Herald office.

Also, as of late, both the original and duplicates of bowling results have been sent here. The Herald cannot be responsible for the second copy, which should be kept by the league secretary.

Ike Urges Nation Join In Festival

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today urged all Americans to give "enthusiastic support" to the National Sports Festival. This is an annual observance aimed at encouraging widespread participation in recreation.

The festival, officials said, will be observed in communities throughout the nation during May.

Willard Whitesides, who spent the winter with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whitesides of Columbus, has returned to his home here for the Spring and Summer.

Neighbors of Mrs. Dehl Fast kept a fire in her home under control last Friday until the arrival of the Mt. Sterling Fire Department.

Mr. and Mrs. George Christensen are parents of a son, born Thursday in Doctors Hospital, Columbus.

Frank Fast is reported as improving after being seriously ill for several days during the past week. He is in the home of his daughter Mrs. John Arledge.

The farmers of the community are plowing for corn, seeding oats, grass seed and barley and getting their sheep sheared.

The Mt. Sterling Horse Club sponsored a program at the Derby school building here Sat. evening.

The H. B. Grahams, Elbert McPherson and John McPherson attended a birthday party Saturday evening at the Troy McPherson home in honor of the birthday of Troy McPherson.

The P.T.A. entertained Thursday evening to a banquet in honor of the basketball team.

A large number of Derby school pupils attended a music festival at Pickaway County Fairground Friday evening.

ABC Team Event Leadership Tied

FORT WAYNE (AP) — A Chicago team moved into a tie for first place in last night's competition in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

The Cole Finner-Mercury team posted a 3,015 total to tie Howard's Clothes of St. Paul, Minn., which had held the lead since the tournament opened March 26. The Chicago team, paced by 18-year-old Morrie Oppenheim, had games of 1,055, 982 and 978. Oppenheim shot a 653 series while anchor-man Stan Weglarz had 614.

Alston-Robinson 'Feud' Burns Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — What promised to flare into a major feud between Manager Walt Alston and infielder Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers fizzled today.

"It's all over as far as I'm concerned," said Alston, who got into the scrap when Robinson complained that he wasn't being played enough.

"But all this isn't going to change my mind one iota. The third base job is still between Robinson and Don Hoak. The better man will play opening day and I'm not going to announce a decision before Monday."

Indian-Giant Spring Series Tied 8-All

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Tied now at 8-game all, the Cleveland Indians-New York Giants spring exhibition series will be decided here today and in the finale at Knoxville tomorrow.

With three regulars missing from the lineup—outfielders Ralph Kiner and Al Smith and third baseman Al Rosen—the Tribe lost a four-run, ninth-inning Giant rally at Columbus, Ga., yesterday, 5-1.

Sal Maglie went all the way to win, yielding eight hits. Bob Lemon was the first Tribe hurler in several spring training periods to go the distance, but it became a rout with Monte Irvin's three-run homer in the ninth.

Irvin's first homer was in the fifth, but the Tribe tied it in the seventh on Jim Hegan's single, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a dribbler by Larry Doby.

Bob Lemon, who hit 64 homers for Nashville last season, got one off Lemon in the ninth, immediately after Irvin's base-clearing blow, which followed singles by Al Dark and Don Mueller.

Until the ninth, Lemon had allowed only five hits, and it looked as though he was going to make his last tuneup for opening day his best effort of the training series.

Dave Philley got three of the Indians' eight singles, but tapped to the mound in the third with the bases loaded to end a rally.

Results Refused For Bowlers

Bowling leagues attention! Starting immediately, The Herald will refuse to print any bowling results which are not correctly totalled.

In addition, no results will be printed which do not come in with readable writing. Although The Herald cannot be responsible for errors, there have been too many results coming in scribbled.

League secretaries should check the copy, which is given to The Herald, for errors and legibility. Any mistakes should be corrected before the results are sent to The Herald office.

Also, as of late, both the original and duplicates of bowling results have been sent here. The Herald cannot be responsible for the second copy, which should be kept by the league secretary.

Ike Urges Nation Join In Festival

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today urged all Americans to give "enthusiastic support" to the National Sports Festival. This is an annual observance aimed at encouraging widespread participation in recreation.

The festival, officials said, will be observed in communities throughout the nation during May.

Parking Rules On N. Scioto Studied Again

Planning Unit Head Asks For Action On Storm Sewer

Even the electric clock on the wall threw up its hands in surrender Tuesday night as city council, in one of its longest sessions of recent years, tussled with major municipal problems for more than four hours.

When the lawmakers finally adjourned, Councilman Harold Clifton called attention to the fact that it was past midnight, and drew weary grins with the suggestion that the clock "be turned back so we can end this meeting on Tuesday." Earlier, during a long recess huddle, it was discovered the clock had stopped altogether because somebody knocked the plug out of its socket.

Outstanding among the night's important business were the following actions:

1. A salary increase was approved for Utilities Manager Ervin Leist, who disclosed he has been offered a much better paying job elsewhere in Ohio.
2. The lawmakers held to first reading an ordinance which would double the city sewer rate.
3. Council was urged to consider seriously whether the time has arrived to propose a city income tax for Circleville.
4. A measure clearing the way for purchase of a new fire truck was passed after long discussion. (For detailed stories see page one)

BUSINESS FOR the evening opened in a manner that hinted at the long meeting ahead. About 8 p. m., the lawmakers went into a private huddle in the city clerk's office for a preliminary discussion on the salary increase requested for Leist by the board of public utilities.

The session moved back into council's chambers about 9 p. m., as the lawmakers turned to a list of questions presented by residents in the Sunshine St. locality. The property owners wanted to know what the city's present position is on the placing of curbs and gutters along that street, and were told that no project for that purpose is under way.

However, council was assured that the majority of the property owners are willing to have the work done themselves, and an apparent agreement was reached to proceed with this understanding. Much of the talk was on the feasibility of having the work done under the assessment method for the few who may not wish to have the job handled "on their own".

City Service Director Dewey Speakman told a delegation of property owners that paving work could start as soon as the curb and gutter work was done.

After passing the ordinance to boost Leist's salary, council also approved a measure to raise the pay of the members and clerk of the Civil Service Commission. The pay of members was raised from $45 to $60 a year, while the clerk's salary was hiked from $60 a year to $100.

Councilman George Crites said the Civil Service work represents "one of the lowest paid jobs we have" and urged prompt approval.

The vote was 7-0 in favor of the proposal.

AFTER appropriating $100 for Daniel Albright in payment of a small land transaction, the city legislators delved into the proposal that would double sewer rates in Circleville. It was out of this long discussion that renewed talk of a city income tax developed.

The sewer rate measure was held to first reading. The same action was taken on an ordinance to raise the salary of the clerk-cashier of the water and sewage departments. The ordinance, proposed by the board of public utilities, would hike the clerk-cashier's salary from $225 a month to $250.

Proposed changes in the parking regulations for N. Scioto St. then came back into the picture in the form of an ordinance that would prohibit parking on the east side of that street between Pinckney and High streets.

Mayor Bob Hedges, who sponsored the measure, explained he had been asked by residents of the vicinity to have it presented. However, he added that a delegation of residents who would be affected planned to attend a later council meeting, and therefore urged that the measure be held to first reading. This was done.

Councilman Ray Cook said he was skeptical when told by the mayor that residents along the east side of the street favored the measure. "I can't conceive of anyone living there who does not want to park in front of his own home," he said.

The lawmakers then went into a recess prior to action on the fire truck measure. And it was during this huddle that Councilman Clarence Helvering noticed the clock had been stopped for 20 minutes. Helvering expressed belief that Councilman Richard Penn "did it". It was then 11 p. m.

AFTER LONG debate over the cost of the new fire truck, and means of financing the purchase through the city's new fire protection levy, the lawmakers settle-ed back in their chairs to hear Bob Adkins, head of the planning and zoning commission.

Adkins insisted upon knowing what council intends to do about surface water difficulties in the vicinity of Northridge, Georgia and Mulberry roads and nearby areas.

The planning and zoning commission head declared that he is "the one being chewed out" because of a delay in fixing conditions in that part of the city. And he reminded council that he made promises to the property owners—at the time of the annexation drive—on the basis of action expected from council.

On a plan to place the necessary storm sewer line, he said: "We're going to have to do it sometime—why not get a feasible and sensible plan?"

Some members of council told him that a "plan" does exist, but Adkins replied: "Yes, but nothing is being done about it."

IT WAS brought out that plans for the sewer line, drawn by the firm of Burgess and Niple, Columbus consulting engineers, called for costs that would total approximately $100,000. And council made it clear that the amount was far above the range in mind. Clifton called the plan "outrageous", and it was finally agreed to discuss the details with engineers of the Columbus firm, hired to study and recommend improvements for the city's sewer system.

Adkins, the last to linger at the meeting in the spectators' section, pressed for "some kind of action." He said City Service Director Speakman is "very hesitant" to go ahead with any phase of the job without council's authority.

Councilman John Robinson, who pointed out the work would have to be done by the assessment method, added:

"We have to get the cost of the storm sewer down to where those people aren't going to yell their heads off" (at the amount to be paid).

Clifton also said he would confer with Joe Rooney of the local state highways branch to determine to what extent the state may be able to aid in solving the problem.

As the lawmakers moved to adjourn, Councilman Boyd Horn shouted:

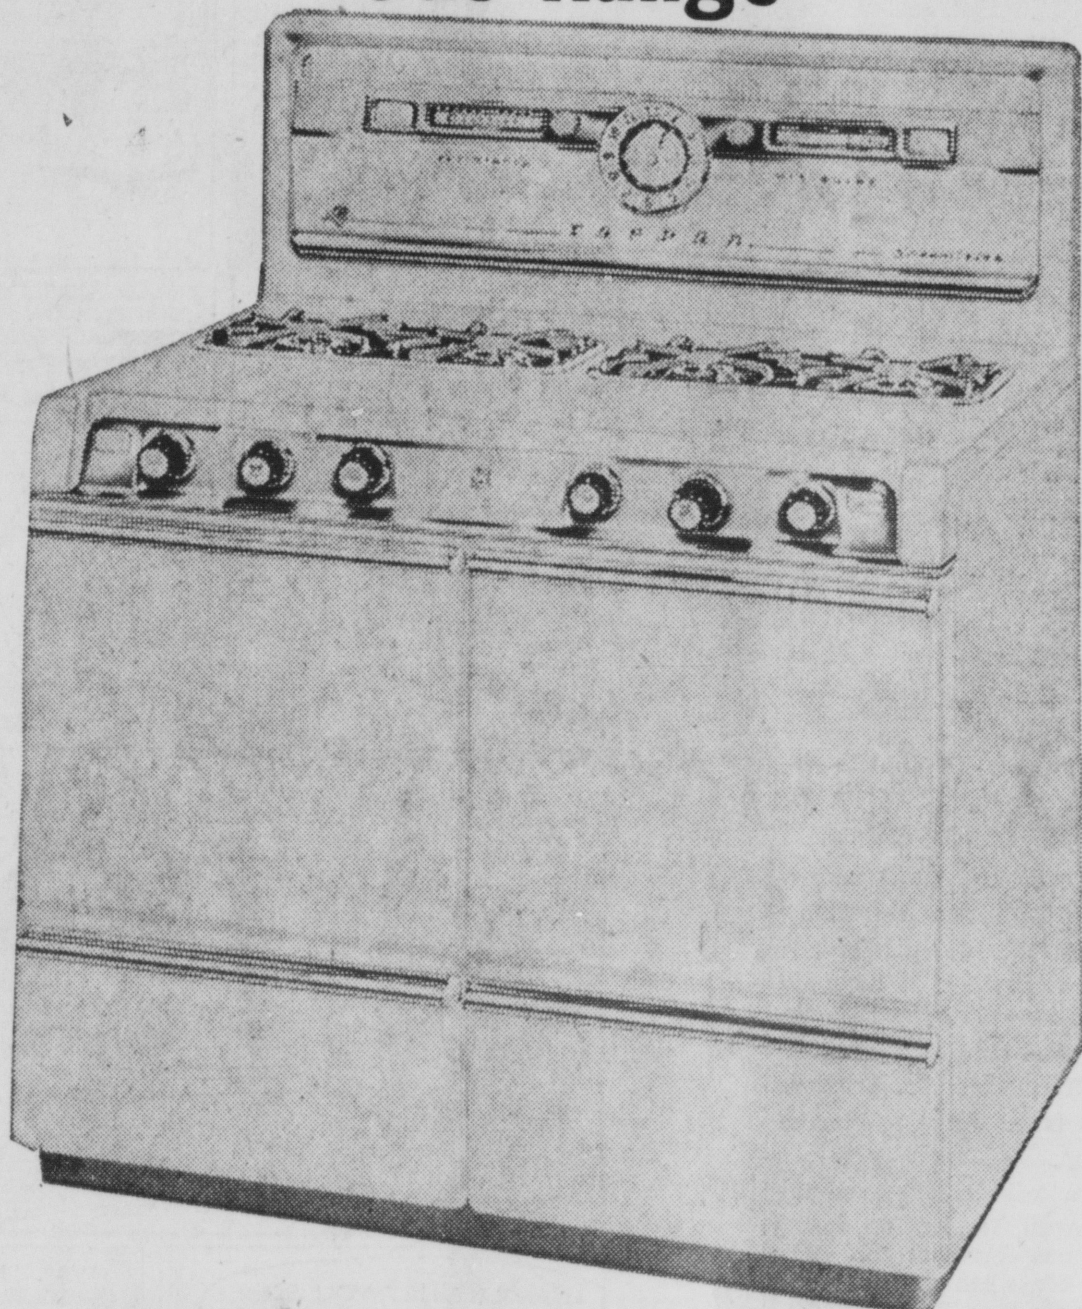

"Just a minute! I've been waiting here for an hour trying to get a chance to say something."

HIS REMARK caused a restless murmur among the lawmakers, and Clerk of Council Fred Nicholas rapped his knuckles on his desk to help restore order.

Horn wants assurance from railroad officials that safety measures will be taken when small work-cars are using the tracks in the Southend. He had related at a previous meeting how one of the cars struck an automobile.

He also explained he opposed the salary increase for Leist "because I don't think the city can afford it, and I think it's going to lead us into a lot of trouble." Horn stressed, however, that he has "nothing against Mr. Leist personally."
